JAMES PEAK BILL CARRIES

City Now Can Vote $3,000,000 Bonds for Boring Tunnel Through Rockies

DENVER, Feb. 17.—By a vote of two to one, the taxpaying electors of this city today decided to proceed with the sale of $8,000,000 of city bonds and with the proceeds construct a municipal water plant.

A plan of the Retail association to submit the appraisal of the Denver Union Water company, now supplying the city on sufferance, to the arbitration of nine arbitrators, with a maximum price of $14,[illegible], was rejected.

The taxpaying electors, also, by a vote of approximately three to one, voted to issue $3,[illegible] city bonds for the construction of the tunnel through James peak to provide a short cut to Salt Lake City for use of the Denver & Salt Lake railroad mainly, but also for the use of other lines. The Denver & Salt Lake [illegible] guarantees the interest on the bonds which are to extend over [illegible] years.

Water Co. [illegible]

Water will be piped by the city through the tunnel from the western slope for irrigation, power, and city [illegible]

The defeat of the Retail association plan, which was acceptable to the water company, leaves that company, within an outlaw in the streets, its franchise having expired in 1910, and with $[illegible],000,000 bonds due in July on a capitalization of $7,500,000, and no sinking fund to meet the payment. The action of the taxpayers forecasts [illegible] and eventual sale by the [illegible] to the city as part of the new plant at the best price obtainable.

End of Long Fight.

[illegible] at the [illegible] in 1910, when it was refused a renewal. An offer of $7,000,000 for its plant was refused by the company, and the bond issue of $8,000,000 voted to build a new plant. The constitutionality of the issue was contested up to the United States supreme court, where it was decided the city could build its own plant and issue bonds for the purpose.

The Retail association plan failing today to secure a price approximating the liabilities of the corporation, leaves it practically at the appraisal of the taxpayers, for no new proposal can be voted upon for two years.

The corporation, according to general belief tonight, will continue to serve the city on sufferance, but its earnings will be considerably depleted if the city council, as planned, votes to force a reduction of 30 per cent in water rates.

GEN. DIAZ AND WIFE SAIL FOR NEW YORK

HAVANA, Feb. 17.—General Felix Diaz and Senora Diaz were passengers on the steamship Morro Castle which sailed today for New York. General Diaz has been in Havana since early last November, going direct to the Cuban capital after his flight from Vera Cruz.

13TH BRYAN PEACE TREATY IS SIGNED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—The thirteenth of Secretary Bryan's peace treaties, that with the Dominican republic, was signed today.

WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY CAN'T PREVENT WRECKS

Has Saved Hundreds of Lives in Summoning Rescue, but Collisions Unavoidable

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 17.—While wireless telegraphy has saved hundreds of lives at sea it has yet to prove that it is of any practical use in preventing collisions when ships are within a short distance of each other in a fog. This was the opinion expressed today by the board of steamboat inspectors conducting the trial of Captain Osmyn [illegible] of the steamship Nantucket charged with negligence in the collision with the steamship Monroe.

The board expressed the opinion after it examined R. L. Etheridge, wireless operator of the Monroe. The operator said he could give no instance where he had ever been able to help a ship's master in the safe navigation of a vessel in a fog.

Etheridge testified that wireless operators do not get sufficient pay. Boys as young as 16 years are employed at $25 a month and cause lots of trouble.

Other witnesses examined today were [illegible] Gateley, second officer of the [illegible]; J. H. Perkins, chief engineer [illegible]; Oscar Perkins, second assistant [illegible]. They added but little that was new to the story of the disaster.

MICHIGAN PROBE TO BE THOROUGH

TAYLOR AGAIN OVERRULES REPUBLICAN

Contends Congress Has Full Jurisdiction in the Investigation

HANCOCK, Mich., Feb. 17.—Congressman E. T. Taylor of Colorado, chairman of the committee investigating the copper miners' strike, today overruled a motion by Representative Switzer of Ohio, one of the two Republican members of the committee, to expunge hearsay testimony from the records. The debate on the motion became spirited, and Chairman Taylor, who is a Democrat, charged that Mr. Switzer was attempting to discredit the work of the committee by taking the position that it had no authority to make a full investigation.

"You can object as much as you please," Mr. Taylor exclaimed, "but if you object to an investigation of conditions here you ought not to be on this committee."

Mr. Switzer denied he objected to an investigation, but insisted that some limit should be fixed on the evidence so that everything offered would not be admitted into the record.

Democrats in Control.

"As chairman of this committee, representing the Democratic majority of the house," said Mr. Taylor, "I will say that anything that goes into the record will go back to congress. We were sent up here to investigate conditions with a view to providing remedial legislation and if we cut out anything that might throw light on the situation we would be criticised."

"Do I understand that this is a partisan committee and that this is a partisan investigation?" inquired Representative Howell, the other Republican member.

"No," replied the chairman, "but when a minority member tries to discredit the committee by saying that it is exceeding its proper limits, it is time for the majority to take decisive action."

Mr. Howell said the record and what goes into it was under the committee's control.

"Mr. Switzer has a right to ask to have anything stricken out," said Mr. Taylor, "and his objection will appear in the record."

[illegible] "No," [illegible] the reply, "all because any one [illegible] asks it."

The discussion arose while Waine Wyrano, a striker, was testifying as to the raid on December 11, last, in which members of the "Citizens Alliance," acting as a sheriff's posse, raided the Western Federation of Miners headquarters, following the shooting of a deputy sheriff who had been searching the headquarters for arms. The witness said he was searched and beaten by an unidentified man who was described by others as a deputy sheriff. Mr. Switzer asked that this testimony be stricken out because the witness did not know that his assailant was a deputy.

A. E. Peterman, of counsel for the mining company, said that it was hardly just to the sheriff's officers to charge them with crimes on hearsay evidence.

Object to Federal Jurisdiction.

Counsel for the miners contended that an officer had no right to search for weapons on a man who had not been arrested.

Allen F. Rees, a mining company attorney, said that assaults and violations of personal rights were in the province of the state and that nothing testified to by the witness would give a federal court criminal jurisdiction.

"Do you think that if we find that for six months," asked Mr. Taylor, "a condition of outlawry has existed here, and we discover that there has been violation of individual rights we cannot report it to congress?"

"Yes," Mr. Rees replied, "if there has been no specific violation of the constitutional or federal statutes."

Mr. Howell asked if it was not important to congress to know something about the administration of justice. Mr. Rees thought congress should be informed on this subject through the federal courts.

Former Congressman Victor Berger of Milwaukee appeared before the committee today as a member of the executive committee of the Socialist party and denied that Socialism was responsible for the strike.

May Require State Troops to Install South Bend Priest

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Feb. 17.—Women and children continued today to riot in the neighborhood of St. Casimirs Polish Catholic church, where several persons were hurt Sunday when the police attempted to install the Rev. Stanislaus Gruza as priest.

A. L. Hubbard, attorney for Bishop Herman J. Alerding of Fort Wayne announced he had requested Governor Ralston to call state troops to South Bend to assist in placing the priest in charge of the church.

STEAMER LATE

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—The American liner St. Louis arrived here today, three days late from Southampton, after encountering one of the severest storms in her history.

LEADERS FEAR PRES. WILL VETO THE BILL

Discouraged Over Prospects of Immigration Legislation [illegible] Term

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—Information that President Wilson would veto the immigration bill if it is sent to him from congress with the literacy test provision has amazed members of the senate immigration committee.

Many of them confessed tonight they were bewildered inasmuch as they had determined to retain the literacy test in their draft of the measure as it passed the house, under the impression that the president would accept the bill if it passed the senate. An interesting session of the committee is looked for tomorrow.

Two weeks ago the committee directed Senator Smith of South Carolina the chairman, to consult with the president on immigration legislation. It was said today that the members especially desired to learn whether the veto power might be directed at the literacy provision of the Burnett bill.

Senators Discouraged.

Some of the senators were inclined to the belief that it would be a waste of time to take up consideration of immigration reform at all, if the restrictive literacy test would again fail. They were committed to that provision as a beneficial form of restriction, had voted for it twice before and felt constrained to insist upon it again, but did not want to waste the time of a busy congress should there be a possibility of immigration legislation again failing under the executive ax.

Senator Smith reported that while the president did not look upon the literacy test with favor, he would sign the bill if it passed the senate. Upon that basis the committee began its test. Now the members are inclined to stand by their guns despite the president's attitude, certain that the measure can pass the senate and not at all sure that it might not repass both houses by a two-thirds vote over the head of the president. The senate repassed a similar bill over President Taft's veto, but it failed in the house.

FIRE DESTROYS HOUSE IN IVYWILD; LOSS $5,000

House Occupied by Fred Walters Burned to Ground; Household Goods [illegible]

Fire starting in the basement, supposedly from an overheated furnace, late last night completely destroyed a five-room frame cottage at 196 Cheyenne road, occupied by Fred Walters. The house is said to have been worth $5,000, while the furniture was valued at several thousand more. Both were insured. Walters rented the property.

Being outside the city limits, the fire department refused to make the run unless the expenses of the trip were guaranteed. The call was turned in by neighbors and either because they were unwilling to assume the responsibility or did not understand the rule of the department they did not offer the required sum. So no effort whatever was made to save the building, the fire burning unchecked from the time it started.

Walters, together with his mother and sister, were up town when the fire was discovered by neighbors. When they returned the entire building was in flames and it was too late to make any effort to save the furnishings. Because the doors were locked neighbors could not rescue much from the house.

STARTS EAST TODAY TO TAKE RADIUM TREATMENT

Mrs. Katherine Rofinot Going to Johns Hopkins Institute Where New Cure Will Be Administered

Mrs. Katherine Rofinot of 1304 North Custer street, teacher of the eighth grade in Liller school, will leave this morning for Baltimore, Md., where she will enter the Johns Hopkins institute to undergo the radium treatment for cancer. Mrs. Rofinot is the first person in Colorado Springs and one of the first in the west to take the radium cure.

While her case is not considered serious Mrs. Rofinot was advised by her physician Dr. Charles F. Stough to take the radium cure if possible. Four years ago she underwent an operation which at first was thought to be successful. However, it resulted in but a partial cure. Mrs. Rofinot believes the radium treatment will prove entirely successful especially since the case is light and expects to return to Colorado Springs within three weeks.

FORMER MAYOR GILL ELECTED IN SEATTLE

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 17.—Renomination of former Mayor Hiram C. Gill, at today's primaries, was conceded tonight by his opponents in the nonpartisan mayoralty race. Gill was recalled in 1911 because of charges that the town was "wide open" under his administration. Early returns give him a big lead over any one competitor, but not a majority.

CASTILLO IS CAPTURED BY U. S. TROOPS

Arrested Just Over Border on American Side Near El Paso

LONG CAREER CRIME ENDS

United States May Deport Bandit to Mexico; Then Face Execution

EL PASO, Tex., Feb. 17.—Maximo Castillo, the Mexican bandit charged with responsibility for the Cumbre tunnel disaster, in which 10 Americans and 41 others lost their lives, was captured 35 miles south of Hachita, N. M., today by American troops. This information was conveyed to General Hugh L. Scott, commandant at Fort Bliss, in an official telegram this afternoon from Captain White, Ninth United States cavalry, this afternoon.

With the bandit were six of his followers. According to Captain White's brief dispatch, they surrendered without a fight. They will be brought here.

Castillo, to avoid a range of mountains on the Mexican side, made a detour which brought him into American territory. Captain White was on the watch, having received information yesterday from Walter McCormick, American manager of Las Palomas ranch, on the Mexican side, that the much wanted man was in the vicinity.

Arrest Ordered.

Captain White telegraphed by army wireless to General Scott for instructions and was ordered to arrest the bandit should he put foot on American soil.

Whether the prisoner will be surrendered to the rebels is a legal question which remains to be settled. If this is done there is no doubt that he will be executed for the Cumbre disaster. He is not charged with any crime on this side.

Castillo [illegible] a freight train [illegible] ago [illegible] and every life aboard was lost. The tunnel is still burning.

J. W. SCOTT, PRINCIPAL OF LOWELL SCHOOL, DIES

Well-Known Educator Had Been Ill for Several Weeks; Funeral Tomorrow Afternoon

James Wesley Scott, aged 48, principal of the Lowell school and one of the most proficient educators in the city, died yesterday morning at his home, 224 East Yampa street, after an illness of several weeks resulting from a complication of stomach and intestinal trouble. Mr. Scott's health has been poor for several years although he was at his work until Monday morning when he was unable to leave his bed.

Mr. Scott had been principal of the Lowell school for the last 10 years and prior to that was head of the Garfield school for six years. He is survived by his widow, two brothers and three sisters.

Mr. Scott was born in Ohio and received his early education in the public and high schools of Hayesville. He then took the usual courses in Vermillion institute and Duquesne college, graduating from both institutions with high honors. For several years he was superintendent of schools at Loudonville, O., and came to Colorado Springs in the summer of 1899. He was a member of El Paso lodge No. 13 A. F. & A. M. and was well known in church circles and all movements looking to the betterment of the community.

The funeral will be held from the First Congregational church at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Interment will be in Grand Rapids, Mich.

SENATE IS PRESSING REPEAL OF CANAL ACT

May Not Wait on House to Act; President Is Taking Much Interest

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—The senate may not wait for initiative action in the house before taking under consideration the question of repealing the tolls exemption section of the Panama canal act, it became apparent today. It was stated by senators who are anxious to have the subject settled to aid in clearing up foreign relations that some action toward a solution of the question was probable within a few days.

Thursday is set as the date for beginning discussion in the general arbitration treaties in executive session.

President Wilson, it was learned today, is confident that formidable opposition in the senate to his toll policy already has been overcome. Tonight it was learned that four Democratic senators told the president on the night of his conference at the White house with the foreign relations committee, that they would reverse their position and vote to repeal the free toll section of the canal act.

In the house, however, considerable opposition to repeal of the tolls provisions has developed. The president tomorrow will confer with Majority Leader Underwood, who has been a staunch advocate of toll exemption for American ships.

MRS. MANNING LEAVES FORTUNE TO HUSBAND

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 17.—The will of Mrs. Carrie Manning, who was killed two weeks ago by Hazel Herdman, a girl of 20, madly in love with Charles L. Manning, was filed today. It was dated prior to the entrance of Miss Herdman into the domestic life of the Mannings and provided that all the wife possessed should go to the husband. Just before the murder of Mrs. Manning inherited a considerable sum from her father. Miss Herdman committed suicide.

GOVERNMENT MEN HERE TO WEIGH SPRINGS MAIL

Will Spend Fifteen Weeks in This City to Determine Rates to Be Paid For Mail [illegible]

Beginning last night at midnight the weighing of all mail matter leaving Colorado Springs on the various railroads to determine the rate of compensation to the roads for carrying the mail was started by E. H. Hammer and Charles V. Lineweaver, government weighers, who arrived here yesterday morning, and will remain for 105 days, weighing the mails every day. This system of weighing takes place every four years for the above named number of days and determines the rate to be paid the railroads for carrying the mail for the following four-year period.

The same process of arriving at the compensation due the railroad is carried out all over the United States in the different mailing divisions, though not necessarily at the same time. The men who will do the work here will make their home in this city until about June 1, and will weigh out every mail train each day, one working at the Santa Fe depot and the other at the Denver & Rio Grande.

NOTED EVANGELIST TO ASSIST LOCAL CHURCH

Rev. R. J. Parrett Likely to Undertake Work of Raising Funds for Tourist Memorial

It is probable that through the influence of Bishop Cyrus J. Kephart of Kansas City, bishop of the southwest district of the United Brethren of Christ church, the services of Evangelist R. J. Parrett will be secured to help obtain funds to complete the new structure being built by the Tourist Memorial church of this city.

Bishop Kephart was in Colorado Springs last night and at a meeting at the church stated that it was his profound conviction that Dr. Parrett was the key man to secure the funds necessary for the completion of the project. Dr. Parrett is now under contract with the general evangelistic commission of the denomination and Bishop Kephart will attempt to bring about his release from that obligation. It is the plan to have Dr. Parrett work among friends outside the city to obtain the necessary money. Dr. Parrett is conducting meetings at the Tourist Memorial church at the present time.

It is hoped that the church will be completed during the coming summer.

JOHN D. SHOVELS SNOW; FINE AS GOLF, HE SAYS

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., Feb. 17.—John D. Rockefeller, Sr., is shoveling snow on his estate at Pocantico Hills. He said today that shoveling snow is about as good a way of getting exercise as playing golf.

WILSON SHOWS NO PARTIALITY

HAS CONFIDENCE IN HIS SECRETARY

Editor of Protestant Magazine Writes President About Correspondence

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—In a letter to W. W. Prescott, editor of the Protestant magazine, published here, President Wilson has denied emphatically that his correspondence is handled with religious prejudice by his secretary, Joseph P. Tumulty. The correspondence made public today by the magazine follows:

"Washington, D. C., Jan. 15, 1914.

"The President: Sir: I learn from personal interviews and correspondence that there is a widespread feeling among Protestants that it is practically impossible for any communication relating to the activities of the Roman Catholic church to reach you personally, for the reason that all such letters are withheld from you by your private secretary, Mr. Tumulty. It is unfortunate both for you and for the country that such an impression prevails.

Asks for Statement.

"Before dealing with this subject in this magazine, I am writing to ask for a statement from you which might be of service in restoring confidence among some of the best citizens of this republic. Any reply, showing that this letter actually reached you, would be a source of satisfaction.

"When you were governor of New Jersey I wrote you concerning some criticisms of your course in which you were charged with showing favoritism to the Roman Catholic church and your reply placed the matter in such a light that I did not deem it necessary to make any reference to the subject. My desire is to deal fairly with public men and hence this letter.

"Thanking you for any attention which you give to my request, I am,

"Yours very truly,

"W. W. PRESCOTT."

President's Reply.

The president's reply under date of January 19, 1914, follows:

"My Dear Sir: Allow me to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of January 15 and to thank you for your candor in writing me.

"I beg leave to assure you that the impression that any part of my correspondence is withheld from me in any circumstances by my [illegible] on account of religious prejudice [illegible] his part is absurdly and [illegible] [illegible] with [illegible] whole of my correspondence is constantly open to me. Mr. Tumulty is more prompt, perhaps, to call my attention to matters in which his prejudice is supposed to be engaged than to other matters of relative indifference.

"Of course, I need hardly add I am not speaking from an impression but from knowledge of just how my correspondence is handled.

"Sincerely yours,

"WOODROW WILSON."

Sentences Himself to Probationary Term for Robbing Grocery Store

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 17.—George Crabtree, a young man who confessed to having robbed a grocery store sentenced himself in the criminal department of the superior court today at the instance of Judge Willis, and took probation for three years for himself and his partner, Burr Anderson.

After the two had pleaded guilty Judge Willis asked:

"Crabtree, if you were judge what sentence would you give yourself?"

"As it is my first offense," Crabtree promptly replied, "I should be lenient and extend probation."

Judge Willis thereupon fixed three years as the probationary term.

EVANS GOES A-SLEUTHING ON OWN HOOK

Visits Various Camps of District Incognito to Gather Information

HAS TO HAVE ARMY PASS

Witnesses Testify Concerning General Conditions in Strike District

TRINIDAD, Feb. 17.—Representative John M. Evans of Montana tonight is the proud possessor of a pass signed by Lieutenant Lawrence of the National guard of Colorado, certifying that he is free to leave the Berwind mining camp. On the slip of paper the representative is dubbed simply "Evans," for the lieutenant, when he somewhat grudgingly affixed his name did not know that his headquarters was being honored by the visit of a member of the congressional committee investigating the Colorado coal miners' strike.

This morning the committee made tentative arrangements to go in a body tomorrow and visit the Ludlow tent colony and the mining camps in the vicinity of Trinidad. Congressman Evans, however, decided that he wanted to see the camps when they were not on dress parade. Accordingly, this afternoon he secured an automobile and visited the strike district incognito, accompanied only by the chauffeur and a reporter for the Associated Press. His colleagues on the committee knew nothing of the trip until the return.

Visits Various Camps.

The congressman visited the Ludlow tent colony, the Hastings and Berwind mining camps and other points of interest. He heard accounts of battles from participants who were unaware of his identity and talked freely, as to a casual stranger. At the end of the trip he said he had collected information which he [illegible] would be of great [illegible] strike investigation.

As the Evans automobile drove up the canon leading to the Berwind mine a National guardsman, armed with a rifle, signaled the chauffeur to stop.

"What do you want?" the soldier demanded.

"Oh! I just thought I would drive around the camp and look things over," replied Evans.

"Well, you've got to get a pass. See that building over there? Go over there and the lieutenant will fix you up."

Gets His Pass

So the Montana representative and member of the house investigating committee clambered out of the car, walked across a railroad track, some piles of cinders and a ditch and entered the military headquarters. Here he was confronted by the lieutenant.

"The fellow down there on the road said you would give me a pass to go through the camp," blandly remarked the representative.

The officer looked doubtful. "Who are you?" he demanded.

"My name is Evans," replied the visitor.

"Did you come from Trinidad?"

"Yes."

Upon being assured that the party wished merely to drive through the camp and out again the officer wrote out the pass.

On the way out, Mr. Evans again [illegible]

Canadian Grand Opera Fails to Give Performance in Denver; Police Seize Company Property

DENVER, Feb. 17.—Because of a disagreement with the local management the Canadian Opera company tonight refused to go on with a production of "La Gioconda."

In default of the performance Clair J. Pitcher, commissioner of public safety, seized the property and personal effects of the company to indemnify a large audience composed mainly of society people.

After the excitement cleared away Theodore H. Bauer, managing director of the company, issued the following statement:

Why Contract Defaulted.

"The National Opera Company of Canada had a contract with F. D. Hawkins of Denver to give four performances in Denver for which the company was to receive $4,500 per performance.

"Payment was made for the first performance Monday night of 'Samson et Delila' but Mr. Hawkins stated the local expenses were so heavy that he could not possibly meet further obligations to the company.

"The management has, therefore, taken the only method of protecting itself in declining to give performances unless payment is made per contract.

"The company will continue its tour appearing in Omaha, St. Louis, Minneapolis and other cities."

Hawkins' Version Differs.

Mr. Hawkins' version differed. He declared he was guaranteed the appearance of Jeanne Gerville-Reache, contralto, and that he had received a message from Houston the last day of the company that she would appear in the performance of Samson and Delila here.

Instead of being with the company he said, she left Houston for New York before the company started for Denver.

Maria Claessens was substituted for her Monday night, before a big audience and Mr. Hawkins said he paid the $4,500 guarantee and made money.

As Mme. Reache had not come with the company, he said he told Agide Jacchia, orchestra director acting for Mr. Bauer, that the company should accept a deduction of $750.

Offer Refused.

Finally, just before the performance tonight, he said he offered Jacchia $3,400, the balance of the $4,500 guarantee after deducting $750, and certain expenses advanced to bring the company here from Houston.

Jacchia refused to accept the money.

RADIUM MONOPOLY IS ALREADY IN EXISTENCE, SAY MINING EXPERTS

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—Testifying before the senate mines committee today, W. L. Cummings of Placerville, Colo., asserted that monopolisation of radium lands was a "physical and financial impossibility," because of the great extent of the mineral zone. He said his own properties had been idle for months because he had been unable to work them profitably with ore bringing $80 a ton abroad.

Chairman Walsh read into the record a letter from George K. Jordan of Durango, Colo., and a telegram from David Taylor of Salt Lake City, who urged the need of federal intervention to prevent the formation of a radium monopoly. Jordan said the disappearance of all but one or two buyers of ore from the Colorado fields indicated that a monopoly already was forming in that respect. He named O. W. Willmarth, who recently testified before the committee, as one of these buyers.

Senator Shafroth told the committee that Governor Spry of Utah, now in Washington, might ask to be heard within the next few days.

Married Girl for Her Money; Tries to Kill Self in Court

KANKAKEE, Ill., Feb. 17.—Arthur Clark took a slow poison today in the court room of Judge C. B. Campbell, while the jurist was reading instructions in the case of the state against Clark for obtaining money by false pretenses. Court was adjourned and Clark taken back to jail, where a doctor was called.

The physician worked over Clark for hours, and expressed fear that the man would die.

Clark was arrested several weeks ago and indicted on complaint of his father-in-law, K. P. Johnson, a retired capitalist.

Johnson charged that Clark married Miss Johnson under false representations to obtain money. Clark's wife later filed suit for divorce.

COLO. MINERS NOW GET $50,000 DONATION

FORT SMITH, Ark., Feb. 17.—Donation of $50,000 to aid striking Colorado miners was proposed in a resolution presented to the southwestern district convention of the United Mine Workers of America here today. It was said enough had been pledged to insure the resolution's adoption.

GORE CASE MAY GO TO THE JURY TODAY

Arguments Not Finished by Lawyers; Both Parties Severely Arraigned

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Feb. 17.—Six of the 12 hours allotted for argument in the damage suit brought by Mrs. Minnie E. Bond of Oklahoma City against United States Senator Thomas P. Gore, had been used when court adjourned today and, unless some unforeseen contingency arises, the case will be submitted to the jury tomorrow.

Two attorneys spoke today for the plaintiff and one for the defense. Neither spared the parties to the suit. Both Senator Gore and Mrs. Bond, as well as those characterized by Senator Gore as "disgruntled politicians whose pleadings for pie were unanswered," and who, the defense charges, engineered the plot, were ...

Mrs. Bond having announced they would not ... in rebuttal ... it was understood that at least three witnesses would be called today, among them James R. Jacobs, in whose room at a Washington hotel the alleged attack on which Mrs. Bond ... her suit is said to have occurred last March.

E. J. Giddings, attorney for the plaintiff, who opened the argument, declared the contention of the defense that the senator had been the victim of a conspiracy was without foundation.

"Why, after nine months, has no effort been made to have the alleged conspirators arrested?" he asked the jury.

Turning from the jury and pointing first to Mrs. Gore and then to Mrs. Bond, Giddings exclaimed:

"Look at these two women and see the difference in them. One is attired in rich garments, the other is a plain woman, the daughter of a simple farmer. There sit her parents, plain homely people from the farm. Such people do not frame up conspiracies."

Wisconsin Warden Favors Colorado Convict System

WAUPUN, Wis., Feb. 17.—Daniel Woodward, warden of the Wisconsin state prison, on his return today from a trip of inspection of prison work in Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Kansas and Colorado, said there was no reason why 80 per cent of Wisconsin convicts should not be employed either in road building or farming.

Much of the warden's inspection trip was spent in becoming acquainted with prison methods and the labor of convicts in road building and farming.

He advocated the establishment of the Colorado convict system in Wisconsin.

terviewed the soldier who first had stopped the automobile. The man said he was Joseph Smith, and that he had been a guard at the mine before being taken into the militia upon the arrival of state troops. He participated in the now famous defense of Berwind, and gave the representative a graphic account of the fighting in which he declared the few guards at the mine stood off more than a thousand strikers.

"Suspicious Characters"

From Berwind the representative went to the Ludlow tent colony, stopping on the way to look at the railroad bridge which was used as a fort in one of the battles waged in the Ludlow district.

At the tent colony Mr. Evans was greeted with cordiality until he refused to give his name, when he became an object of ill-concealed suspicion. A crowd of curious onlookers, comprising a goodly representation of the 21 nationalities collected in the camp gathered about the committeeman, as he ... those he found who could speak English.

Saw Soldiers Drunk.

Mrs. M. W. Lowe, wife of the Colorado & Southern pumpman at Ludlow, testified at the hearing this afternoon that she frequently saw drunken soldiers. The witness was vehement in denunciation of the actions of the guards who searched her home. The witness was questioned about the clashes between ... and strikers and told of seeing several guards in the vicinity of the strikers' camp.

Mrs. Lowe: "Yes."

Joseph Gartside, a Colorado & Southern fireman, testified that on October 27 he refused to go out on his engine, hauling a train of guards for Berwind. He stated he was discharged for his refusal. Later he told the committee he was reinstated after the matter had been taken up by the Brotherhood. The witness said he saw many armed guards in the Ludlow district but very few armed strikers.

Got C. F. & I. "P. O." Orders

On cross-examination the witness admitted he boarded an automobile filled with armed strikers headed toward Ludlow."

Nicola Ferraro, an 18-year-old Italian boy who is alleged to have been shot nine times in the leg by a machine gun during the Forbes battle, was next called. Difficulty was experienced in securing an interpreter and the witness was finally passed until an interpreter could be found.

Mrs. Rosa Jones of Sopris testified that when she applied for money orders at the Sopris postoffice in the company store, she was given "C. F. & I. orders" instead.

The witness presented receipts for checks on the Colorado Supply company which were issued when she paid the amounts she wished to send. She said the store manager always gave her company checks unless she insisted upon having postoffice money orders.

At the conclusion of Mrs. Jones' testimony the Zamboni inquiry was resumed after a lively tilt between counsel over the interpreter. Lawrence Cresta was finally agreed upon.

The witness gave his version of the fight at Forbes.

"First came some men on horses and then three automobiles with gun machines." The boy told the committee that one of the men in an automobile gave some of the men in the tents a drink of whiskey out of a bottle.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is sign you have been eating too much meat

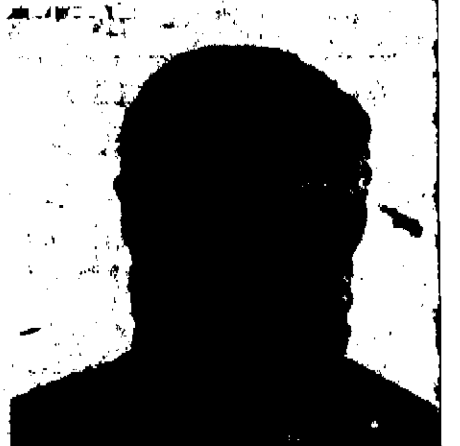

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink. Adv.

Good Cheer Aids Digestion of Food

Dyspeptics Can Make the Best of the Family Meal by Using a Vegetable Aid

MRS. S. MARTIN

The temper of the family and the good cheer around the table depend so much on the good digestion of each individual that the experience of some family who overcame their trouble should be of interest to those now suffering in this way.

The best advice one can give but it is advice that is seldom heeded—is to eat slowly and masticate each mouthful carefully. However, if slow eating and careful mastication fail the next aid is one close to nature, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This remedy is an excellent digestant, and in addition is helpful to the function of the bowels, acts gently on the liver and bowels, ridding them of the accumulation of waste that should long ago have been passed off. It is safe, reliable, pleasant-tasting, and results are guaranteed.

Mrs. S. Martin, of Joplin, Mo., now 77, thinks Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has helped her to a longer and happier life. He has not felt so good in years as he has since taking this excellent medicine, and in spite of his 77 years he says he feels like a boy.

It is the ideal remedy for indigestion, no matter how severe, constipation, no matter how chronic, biliousness, headaches, gas on the stomach, drowsiness after eating and similar annoyances.

You can obtain Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar, the larger size being bought by heads of families already familiar with its merits. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

When you use Syrup Pepsin you will see the fallacy of chewing mints and tablets or of taking cathartics, salts, pills and similar drastic medicines. Unlike these, Syrup Pepsin does not lose its good effect, and by automatically training the stomach and bowel muscles to do their work, soon restores these organs to normal.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 418 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

WATER USERS TO GET MORE TIME TO REIMBURSE THE GOVERNMENT

Secretary Lane Takes Broad View of the Federal Conservation of Natural Resources

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—An agreement upon an extension from 10 to 20 years of the time within which water users may have to the government the cost of construction of irrigation projects was reached at a conference tonight between Secretary Lane and officers of the reclamation service and Senator Smith of Arizona and Representative Smith of Texas, chairman of the congressional committee on irrigation.

The conferees agreed that experience had shown that the present period of 10 years was too short to enable the settlers to reimburse the government.

The change in the payment system will be embodied in a general irrigation bill, on which another conference will be held at the interior department next Thursday.

There are 22 national irrigation projects ... 17 states, in which the government has invested from $76,000,000 to $80,000,000.

Solemn and impressive as the services were, they were brief, and within 30 minutes after Vice President Marshall opened the ceremonies the senate adjourned as a further mark of respect. Then the body was placed on a train for Atlanta, where tomorrow it will lie in state at the Georgia capitol. On the train were members of special senate and house committees and the sergeant-at-arms and secretary of the senate.

It was an impressive assembly that gathered in the senate chamber for the funeral. The bright uniforms of the members of the diplomatic corps were missing, the only touch of color in the chamber being the uniforms of General Wood of the army and Rear Admiral Vreeland of the navy.

The president was prevented from attending by the cold that has confined him to the White house for several days.

500 Unemployed Men Call on St. Louis City Dads, Asking for Work

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 17.—Carrying banners reading "We want work, not alms," and singing "Throw Out the Life Line," 500 homeless men marched to the city hall today, met the mayor and then attended a meeting of the city council, where they asked for appropriations for the relief of the poor.

The parade was called the "Pageant of the Unemployed" by its promoters, in contrast to the proposed "Pageant of St. Louis," for which hundreds of thousands of dollars are being spent. It was headed by James Eads How, the "millionaire hobo."

Before the march was started, the men were served a cup of coffee by How.

The men presented a petition to the mayor asking for the erection of a new municipal lodging house, for the loan of unused tools and vacant buildings belonging to the city and for the establishment of a commissary where the unemployed might buy food at cost. The mayor told the men he would approve any aid offered the homeless by the municipal assembly.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed with Sulphur It Brings Back Its Luster and Abundance.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the tonic at home or get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully and removes dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair; besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger. Adv.

Guild Girls to Give Party on Saturday

The girls of St. Agnes guild Manitou will give a card party Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Miss Leonore Pollen, 175 Ute avenue, instead of Friday as formerly announced. The affair will be for the benefit of St. Andrew's church and both bridge and five hundred will be played. There will be music and refreshments and prizes for those making the best scores in the card games. This will be the last entertainment to be given by the guild until after Lent and all friends are invited.

Just to prove that their manual training is of the practical sort the boys in the Nesquehoning, Pa. public schools have erected a domestic science building.

What the Press Agents Say

"LITTLE LOST SISTER"

Go to New York or Kansas City or Minneapolis—to Los Angeles or Denver or Seattle. You will see by the daily newspapers that someone has written another play about the ruination of girls. In any city, no matter where, you will see advertisements of the white slave play, but from the advertisement it is impossible to form an

VIRGINIA BROOKS,
Noted social worker and author of "Little Lost Sister," which comes to the Opera house Friday for a two-day engagement intelligent opinion as to whether you wish to witness the play.

However admitting that there are plenty of white slave dramas let us analyze the "best seller" of the output. That play is "Little Lost Sister." It has what the billboards say it has, and more than that it is gripping, illuminating, thrilling and true, and is not offensive.

Let us find fault with "Little Lost Sister." What is it about, anyway? Simply this. It is a stage presentation of two girls, one who is good and one who is bad, yet principally about the bad girl, the "lost" sister. It is perhaps too true. That is the only fault anybody has yet found with it.

The play in four acts from a typical small country town, through the vilest den in Chicago, and back to the country, is bound to keep any audience in constant suspense. It is certainly a thriller, and oh, so honestly true. Were that all white slave plays were like "Little Lost Sister."

"Little Lost Sister" is dramatized from the book that Virginia Brooks wrote during the summer investigations in Chicago. E. E. Rose did the dramatizing and by the way Mr. Rose is the author of that wonderful play "The Rosary."

A. C. ESCHER
Of Howard and Escher at the Opera House Today

JOSEF HOFMANN

H. T. Parker of the Boston Transcript is the author of a well written essay in which the characteristics of great pianists are reviewed with a strong intellectual and rather merciless pen. After describing the faults and mannerisms of several virtuosi Mr. Parker pays his profound respect to Josef Hofmann in the following words:

Mr. Hofmann respects himself and his profession. He will not enforce any sort of cheap extraneous acclaim. He comes to his public only as an eminent pianist to justify his reputation in his ears. He makes no appeal to personality, perhaps indeed he goes too far in his disdain of it as a stimulus to his hearers.

Mr. Parker is merely one of many discriminating persons who are inclined to think of Hofmann as he wrote: this pianist never descends to the level of the gallery, no he would not do it if the receipts were doubled or trebled. Should any one ever presume to advise Hofmann to change his modest and sincere manner for affectation and mannerisms no doubt the foolish adviser would be treated to displays of righteous indignation that he would not soon forget. As Mr. Parker declared, Hofmann respects himself and his profession and he will never alter the habit of a life time.

Hofmann will appear in recital at the Burns February 23.

Elephant Act Real Vaudeville Feature

For one who enjoys animal acts Power's elephants, the headline act on the vaudeville bill which opened at the Opera house yesterday, will provide a half hour of pleasant diversion. The act is somewhat of a novelty for the vaudeville stage but its chief interest lies in the training of the four huge animals.

Neither sharp-pointed hooks nor jabs are used to put the elephants through their various stunts. They are so well trained that they go through the performance almost without supervision. And should they falter only a word of command is necessary to start them again. But more remarkable is the fact that the monsters are worked by a woman and a girl instead of a gruff-voiced trainer.

The act is slightly different from the average elephant act although many of the old tricks such as the elephant barber shop are introduced.

With the possible exception of Le Noir's manikins the elephant act is the only one worthy of more than passing attention. The manikin act is indeed a novelty. The little figures on the miniature stage are manipulated with such dexterity as to appear almost real. The members of the orchestra work hard if they don't produce much sound and the people in the boxes furnish not a little amusement.

May Kessler has the ordinary musical act. She plays a number of cornet solos and her accompanist furnishes a piano solo. Howard and Escher fail to live up to their billing "That funny pair." Their act is too much on the order of the slap-stick comedy variety to be pleasing.

CHOOSE WHOM YOU WILL SERVE, SAYS DR. PARRETT

Dr. R. J. Parrett, who is conducting evangelical services at the Tourist Memorial United Brethren in Christ church, spoke last night on the text "Choose you this day whom you will serve." He chose as his text, Joshua 24:15. Dr. Parrett said in part:

"All of us will make the choice tonight; no man or woman will go out of that door without having their choice about whom they will serve. All that is said about man in the word of God, he is treated as a free moral agent. Christians are volunteers; they are in the kingdom because they have volunteered to serve God. Now, because God has blessed us with this free moral agency, and the right to choose, we are not to feel that we have a right to choose a life that is destructive to ourselves, that is destructive to the final life in the world that is to come. Don't you think that any man or woman is worthy of more glory than the devil can give to man or woman. I believe that God will help us to realize just what sin will do for us and just what right will do for us.

"Society holds men responsible for what they do, communities hold men and women responsible for what they do. A man once said to me, 'I don't believe a man is responsible for what he does,' and I said, 'My friend, if a man comes into your home in the darkness of the night and steals your purse you must not say anything about it, for he is not responsible for anything he cannot help. If he comes in the night, and sets a burning torch to your house just go on quietly in life. Certainly he could not help it, he is not responsible.' After all he said, 'I don't feel that way about it.' The laws of the country hold men and women responsible. Men and women are responsible to God and they must give an account for the lives they live in the social world. If that were not true there could be no good, could be no wrong, and the law of God would be a blind law, and man would be a mere machine to be acted upon by forces by which he has no control. All of us believe that we are responsible for the choice we make in life, responsible for the results that come to us from that choice, for the appeals that come, 'Choose you this day whom you will serve.'

"Men will object and say influences have much to do with the life they live, as much as to say these influences relieve me of my personal responsibilities to God, my self and fellow men. God allows these influences to reveal to us just what we are. No man knows what he is until he is tested. It is a cowardly thing for any man or woman to say I am what I am as a sinner because of the influences that are about men. It is a cowardly excuse to say I would be a Christian if it were not for the influence that is about me. God help us to manly men and womanly women, rising above the influences that are about us and doing the things that God would have us do. Yet people in Colorado Springs and some even in the church of God are giving this excuse for the way they live because of the influence about them. Don't allow any influence about you or any condition in your life to defeat you in doing the right thing—and do it tonight. For you have no chance or no offer of tomorrow. What you are just now is because you want to be. If you are a Christian you are a Christian just because you want to be—if a sinner just because you want to be. You would not be a sinner or a Christian if you had not decided to be so."

BURNING ITCHING SCALP DISEASE

Scratched Until Scalp Cut All Over, Could Not Sleep. Hair Came Out. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured in Fifteen Days.

Ardon, Iowa.—"My son had a scalp disease. He had a burning itching for fifteen or sixteen years. On account of the intense itching he would scratch his head until his scalp was cut all over. Several scabs had formed by scratching. He would wake up at night and scratch sometimes he could not sleep with the itch and burning. There were pimples about as large as a pin-head all over his scalp, a red rash as red as blood. His hair came out gradually. It seemed as if the hair was dry, no life in it.

"He used [illegible], a wash of blue stone and toilet soap still he never got any relief until he used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. He would wash his head until it would be white with the lather from the Cuticura Soap, then he would wash his scalp clean with warm water, then rub the ointment all over his scalp. He was cured in fifteen days time." (Signed) Mrs. Jane Edwards, Oct. 15, 1913.

In selecting a toilet soap why not procure one possessing delicate emollient properties sufficient to allay minor irritations, remove redness and roughness, prevent pore clogging, soften and soothe sensitive conditions, and promote skin and scalp health generally? Such a soap combined with the purest of saponaceous ingredients and most fragrant and refreshing of flower odors is Cuticura Soap. Cuticura Soap 25c and Cuticura Ointment 50c are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

INDIGESTION, GAS, DYSPEPSIA GONE

"Pape's Diapepsin" fixes sick, sour, gassy stomachs in five minutes

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.

Daily Fashion Note.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18, 1914.

Dear Mary:—

I've been thinking of a plan to waylay our black cat,
Use her hide for a neck-piece warm and her wily old head for a hat.

Alice might have done this with the "Chessy" cat if she had been up to date. Much is permitted the high priests of Fashion. They are people of unusually fertile imagination, when they allow these imaginations to run riot, though, something is going to happen—this is one of the somethings. It was either cruelly and subtly planned or else an unpleasant faux pas. Just think how much greater the temptation to use that apt expression "Horrid little cat" if our best beloved enemy should indulge in one of these headdresses!

It is startling but might be becoming to one of those females of "feline grace" that we read so much about in the modern novel. I prefer to let pussy sun herself in peace on the window ledge or lie at my feet near the fire.

The Joy Of Coming Motherhood

A Wonderful Remedy That is a Natural Aid and Relieves the Tension.

Mother's Friend, a famous external remedy, is the only one known that is able to reach all the different parts involved is a penetrating application after the formula of a noted family doctor, and lubricates every muscle, nerve, tissue or tendon affected. It goes directly to the strained portions and gently but surely relieves all tendency to soreness and strain.

By its daily use there will be no pain, no distress, no nausea, no danger of laceration or other accident and the period will be one of supreme comfort and joyful anticipation.

To all young women Mother's Friend is one of the greatest of all helpful influences, for it robs childbirth of all its agony and dangers, dispels all the dread and dread and sense of fear and this enables the mind and body to await the greatest event in a woman's life with untrammeled gladness.

Mother's Friend is a most cherished remedy in thousands of homes and is of such peculiar merit and value as to make it essentially one to be recommended by all women.

You will find it on sale at all drug stores at $1.00 a bottle or the druggist will gladly get it for you if you insist upon it. Mother's Friend is prepared only by the Bradfield Regulator Co., 137 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., who will send you by mail sealed a very instructive book to expectant mothers. Write for it today.

Evangelist Preaches Against All Dances

I. L. Rippey, the traveling man evangelist, preached to a large congregation yesterday morning at the M. E. church South on Personal Evangelism. In the evening he preached on Dancing, and said in part:

The contention is made that dancing is good for the health. Maybe there is truth in the contention but there are better ways to get health. It is said that dancing lends grace to the form. There are other kinds of physical exercise that will accomplish the same result. It is argued that it affords recreation. It is true that toilers need recreation, but the question is: Is this the recreation our young people need? You say that the dance gratifies the social nature. Granted that it does what else about it? There is more or less truth in some of these contentions I grant you. And I must add one other claim that may be rightfully made for the dance, namely, it furnishes an expedient very serviceable for ignorant and stupid people who have not intellectual resources for entertaining one otherwise.

If I speak plainly it is because of blood red conviction and because I hear the wail of lost souls ringing in my ears.

First I assert that the promiscuous round dance between the sexes is a thing that Christians may not practice, patronize, encourage or tolerate. Is it not strong presumptive evidence against the dance that it has never been countenanced by the people of the best society? If you would know what I mean by the best society, go to the Book and find the Enochs and Abrahams and Pauls and Barnabases, and then come on down through all the centuries and list all of their kind, those men and women of the ages who are known as God's people; these are what I mean by the best society. Hear me! You have no right to indulge in anything that your pastor cannot do.

The highest courts of the Roman Catholic, Episcopalian, Methodist, Congregational and Presbyterian churches stood uncompromisingly opposed to the dance as a form of social pleasure fraught with the direst peril to the morals of those engaging in it. Will you put your individual judgment against all these competent judges? When you are sick you call for a skilled physician. When in trouble before the courts you entrust your interests to the ablest lawyer. You do well to listen to the consensus of opinion from those who have made moral problems their life business, who have diagnosed conditions from actual contact with them as they have approached them with unselfish interest in the welfare of the people.

Remember Aristotle's keen and just aphorism that a thing is to be judged not only by what may be seen of its nature but also by what is known of its tendency. The tendency of the dance is not toward divine contemplations and the discharge of religious duties but is toward the world that forgets God. It chills the warmth of Christian hearts, is death to the place of secret prayer and is a deadly foe to the prayer meeting.

Dancing kills any influence you may have for Christ. You know that it is so. That fact alone ought to condemn it forever in your life. A young woman asked her pastor what was the harm in dancing. The pastor asked her to take the dance hall position in his arms there in her parlor in the presence of her mother. She blushed, and never afterward danced. There is surely something wrong in that practice in public which is a disgrace in private. I hear some one say, "I don't want to hear that preacher preach against dancing." I am afraid he will [illegible] God have mercy [illegible] that is killing [illegible] what it is a shame to talk about.

BREATHE FREELY! OPEN NOSTRILS AND STUFFED HEAD AT ONCE—END CATARRH

My Cleansing, Healing Balm Instantly Clears Nose, Head and Throat—Stops Nasty Catarrhal Discharges. Dull Headache Goes

Try "Ely's Cream Balm."

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it—Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning! the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear. Adv.

RADIUM MONOPOLY IS ALREADY IN EXISTENCE, SAY MINING EXPERTS

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—Testifying before the senate mine committee today, W. L. Cummings of Placerville, Colo., asserted that monopolization of radium lands was a "physical and financial impossibility," because of the great extent of the mineral zone. He said his own properties had been idle for months because he had been unable to work them profitably with ore bringing $80 a ton abroad.

Chairman Walsh read into the record a letter from George K. Jordan of Durango, Colo., and a telegram from David Taylor of Salt Lake City, who urged the need of federal intervention to prevent the formation of a radium monopoly. Jordan said the disappearance of all but one or two buyers of ore from the Colorado fields indicated that a monopoly already was forming in that respect. He named O. W. Willits, who recently testified before the committee, as one of these buyers.

Mr. Akafroth told the committee that Governor ... of Utah, now in Washington, might ask to be heard within the next few days.

Married Girl for Her Money; Tries to Kill Self in Court

KANKAKEE, Ill., Feb. 17.—Arthur Clark took a slow poison today in the court room of Judge C. B. Campbell, while the jurist was reading instructions in the case of the state against Clark for obtaining money by false pretenses. Court was adjourned and Clark taken back to jail, where a doctor was called.

The physician worked over Clark for hours, and expressed fear that the man would die.

Clark was arrested several weeks ago and indicted on complaint of his father-in-law, K. P. Johnson, a retired capitalist.

Johnson charged that Clark married Miss Johnson under false representations to obtain money. Clark's wife later filed suit for divorce.

CASTILLO IS CAPTURED BY U. S. TROOPS

gratifying as coming on the heels of the theft of 18 horses belonging to the regiment by Mexicans on Sunday.

Bandit is Identified.

The special continues:

"The band of outlaws under heavy guard is now marching overland to Hachita and should arrive about midnight. Charles McDow, a prominent rancher who knows Castillo, identified Castillo, and the later made no attempt to deny it.

"Captain White will ask that Castillo and Captain Emilio Garcia, a member of the band previously captured, be transported immediately to El Paso, as the number of soldiers on duty here is limited.

"Cavalrymen are watching the border for a larger body of Castillo's men now on the other side. Should they by any mistake set foot on this side of the line they will be arrested. Reports of their presence come from ranchmen who saw them in the hills south of Dog Springs, on the Las Palomas ranch. It was on this spot that Castillo camped last night."

Previous reports of Castillo's capture, made to General Villa, proved untrue. The latter expressed his gratification at the capture tonight. General Scott was no less jubilant.

GORE CASE MAY GO TO THE JURY TODAY

Arguments Not Finished by Lawyers; Both Parties Severely Arraigned

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Feb. 17.—Six of the 12 hours allotted for argument in the damage suit brought by Mrs. Minnie E. Bond of Oklahoma City against United States Senator Thomas P. Gore, had been consumed when court adjourned today and, unless some unforeseen contingency arises, the case will be submitted to the jury tomorrow.

Two attorneys spoke today for the plaintiff and one for the defense. Neither spared the parties to the suit. Both Senator Gore and Mrs. Bond, as well as those characterized by Senator Gore as "disgruntled politicians whose pleadings for pie were unanswered," and who, the defense charges, engineered the suit, were scored.

Summing up began after Judge Clark read his instructions to the jury at the opening of court, counsel for Mrs. Bond having announced they would not ... in rebuttal. It was understood that at least three witnesses would be called today, among them James R. Jacobs, in whose room at a Washington hotel the alleged attack on which Mrs. Bond bases her suit is said to have occurred last March.

E. J. Giddings, attorney for the plaintiff, who opened the argument, declared the contention of the defense that the senator had been made the victim of a conspiracy was without foundation.

"Why, after nine months, has no effort been made to have the alleged conspirators arrested?" he asked the jury.

Turning from the jury and pointing first to Senator Gore and then to Mrs. Bond, Giddings exclaimed:

"Look at these two women and note the difference in them. One is clothed in rich garments, the other is a plain woman, the daughter of a simple farmer. There sit her parents, plain honest people from the farm. Such people do not frame up conspiracies."

Wisconsin Warden Favors Colorado Convict System

WAUPUN, Wis., Feb. 17.—Daniel Woodward, warden of the Wisconsin state prison, on his return today from a trip of inspection of prison work in Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Kansas and Colorado, said there was no reason why 50 per cent of Wisconsin convicts should not be employed either in road building or farming.

Much of the warden's inspection trip was spent in becoming acquainted with prison methods and the labor of convicts in road building and farming.

He advocated the establishment of the Colorado convict system in Wisconsin.

EVANS GOES A-SLEUTHING ON OWN HOOK

terviewed the soldier who first had stopped the automobile. The man said he was Joseph Smith, and that he had been a guard at the mine before being taken into the militia upon the arrival of state troops. He participated in the now famous defense of Berwind, and gave the representative a graphic account of the fighting in which he declared the few guards at the mine stood off more than a thousand strikers.

"I Dislike Charities."

Evans visited the representative went to the ... tent colony, stopping on the way to look at the railroad bridge which was used as a ... part in one of the battles waged in the Ludlow district.

At the tent colony Mr. Evans was greeted with cordiality until he refused to give his name, when he became an object of ill-concealed suspicion. A crowd of curious onlookers, comprising a goodly representation of the 21 nationalities enlisted in the camp gathered about the committeeman, as he questioned them, he found who could speak English.

Before leaving the place Mr. Evans told his identity, and canvassed for some time with the men in charge of the colony. He was given first-hand information about the alleged acts of the soldiers while searching the camp for arms.

Mr. Evans then returned to Trinidad, reaching the ... of the committee hearing shortly before the close of the afternoon session.

Saw Soldiers Drunk.

Mrs. M. W. Lowe, wife of the Colorado & Southern agent at Ludlow, testified at the hearing this afternoon that she frequently saw drunken soldiers. The witness was vehement in her denunciation of the actions of the guardsman who searched her house. The witness was questioned about the clashes between ... and strikers and told of seeing several guards fire in the direction of the strikers' camp.

Mr. Austin: "Do you vote?"

Mrs. Lowe: "No."

Mr. Austin: "Mr. Costigan here will be a ... "

Joseph Gallaide, a Colorado & Southern fireman, testified that on October 27 he refused to go out on his engine, hauling a train of guards for Berwind. He stated he was discharged for his refusal. Later he told the committee he was reinstated after the matter had been taken up by the Brotherhood. The witness said he saw many armed guards in the Ludlow district but very few armed strikers.

Got C. F. & I. "P. O." Orders.

On cross-examination the witness admitted he boarded an auto-mobile filled with ... toward Ludlow."

Vario Bu..., an 18-year-old Syrian boy who is alleged to have been shot nine times in the leg by a machine gun during the Forbes battle, was next called. Difficulty was experienced in securing an interpreter and the witness was finally passed until an interpreter could be found.

Mrs. Rose Jones of Sopris testified that when she applied for money orders at the Sopris postoffice in the company store, she was given "C. F. & I. orders" instead.

The witness presented receipts for checks on the Colorado Supply company which were issued when she paid the amount she wished to send. She said the store manager always gave her company checks unless she insisted upon having postoffice money orders.

At the conclusion of Mrs. Jones' testimony the Zamboni inquiry was resumed after a lively tilt between counsel over the interpreter. Lawrence Creata was finally agreed upon.

The witness gave his version of the fight at Forbes.

"First came some men on horses and then three automobiles with gun machines." The boy told the committee that one of the men in an automobile gave some of the men in the tents a drink of whiskey out of a bottle.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is sign you have been eating too much meat

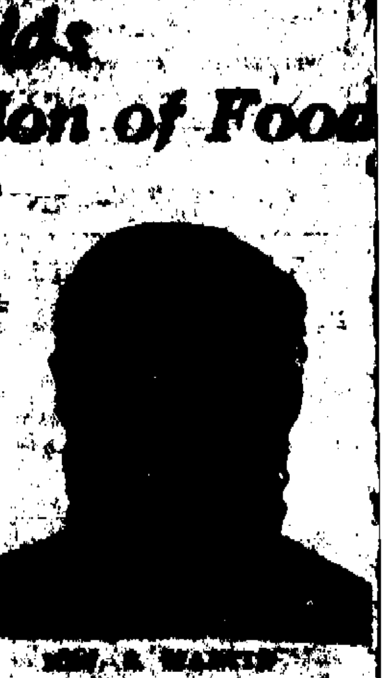

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink. Adv.

Good Cheer Aids Digestion of Food

Dyspepsia Can Make the Best of the Family Blue, but ... Easily Relieved.

MRS. S. MARTIN

The temper of the family and the good cheer around the table depend so much on the good digestion of each individual member that the experience of one family ... who overcame their trouble should be of interest to those now suffering in this way.

The best advice one can give, but it is advice that is seldom heeded, is to eat slowly and masticate each mouthful carefully. But even if slow eating and careful mastication fail the next aid is one close to nature, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This remedy is an excellent digestant, and in addition to helping in the digestion of the food, acts gently on the liver and bowels, ridding them of the accumulation of waste that should long ago have been passed off. It is safe, reliable, pleasant-tasting, and results are guaranteed.

Mrs. S. Martin, of Joplin, Mo., now 77, thinks Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has helped her to a longer and happier life. He has not felt so good in years as he has since taking this excellent medicine, and in spite of his 77 years he says he feels like a boy.

It is the ideal family remedy for ... no matter how ... Constipation, ... bloating after eating and ...

You can obtain Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar a bottle, the latter ... being bought by ... of families ... familiar with its merits ... are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

When you use Syrup Pepsin you will see the fallacy of the ... and tablets, of taking ... pills and similar drastic medicines. Unlike these, Syrup Pepsin does not lose its good effect, and by automatically ... the stomach and bowel muscles to do their work, soon restores these organs to normal.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 418 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

WATER USERS TO GET MORE TIME TO REIMBURSE THE GOVERNMENT

Secretary Lane Takes Broad View of the Federal Conservation of Natural Resources

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—An agreement upon an extension from 10 to 20 years of the time within which water users may pay back to the government the cost of construction of irrigation projects was reached at a conference tonight between Secretary Lane and officers of the reclamation service and Senator Smith of Arizona and Representative Smith of Texas, chairman of the congressional committee on irrigation.

The conferees agreed that experience had shown that the present period of 10 years was too short to enable the settlers to reimburse the government.

The change in the payment system will be embodied in a general irrigation bill, on which another conference will be held at the interior department Thursday.

There are 22 national irrigation projects located among 17 states, in which the government has invested from $75,000,000 to $80,000,000.

Must Use Resources.

"We must use the resources of the country; not lock them up. There should be no conflict or jealousy between state and federal authorities, for there can be no variance of purpose between them. The resources must be used, but not destroyed or wasted, and not monopolized upon any narrow idea of individual rights as against the abiding interests of communities," said Mr. Lane.

... not certain that under the plan ... are now drafting ... would be willing to enter into the ... could have ... government at the ... period. Therefore ... made by the administration ... out public opinion and the ... business concerns engaged in construction work to learn the feasibility of the positions. That private concerns would be content with the profit growing out of the use of the projects, with perhaps a privilege of obtaining subsequent money from the federal government, or the states, is the belief advanced by advocates of the scheme.

NATION PAYS LAST TRIBUTE OF RESPECT TO LATE SEN. BACON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—The ... tribute to the late Senator Augustus O. Bacon of Georgia was paid today by the representatives in ... of the American people and foreign ... Funeral services were held in the senate chamber as an unusual honor to the dead ... and ... the heads of ... in the tribute were the justices of the supreme court, members of the president's cabinet, the diplomatic corps, officers of the army and navy, and others high in official ...

Solemn and impressive as the services were, they were brief, and within 30 minutes after Vice President Marshall opened the ceremonies the senate adjourned as a ... mark of respect. Then the body was placed on a train for Atlanta, where tomorrow it will lie in state at the Georgia capitol. On the train will be ... of special senate and house committees and the sergeant-at-arms and secretary of the senate.

It was an impressive assembly that gathered in the senate chamber for the funeral. The bright uniforms of the members of the diplomatic corps were missing, the only touch of color in the chamber being the uniforms of General Wood of the army and Rear Admiral Vreeland of the navy.

The president was prevented from attending by the cold that has confined him to the White house for several days.

500 Unemployed Men Call on St. Louis City Dads, Asking for Work

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 17.—Carrying banners reading "We want work, not alms," and singing "Throw Out the Life Line," 500 homeless men marched to the city hall today, met the mayor and then attended a meeting of the city council, where they asked for appropriations for the relief of the poor.

The parade was called the "Pageant of the Unemployed" by its promoters, in contrast to the proposed "Pageant of St. Louis," for which hundreds of thousands of dollars are being spent. It was headed by James Eads How, the "millionaire hobo."

Before the march was started, the men were served a cup of coffee by How.

The men presented a petition to the mayor asking for the erection of a new municipal lodging house, for the loan of unused tools and vacant buildings belonging to the city and for the establishment of a commissary where the unemployed might buy food at cost. The mayor told the men he would approve any aid offered the homeless by the municipal assembly.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed With Sulphur It Brings Back Its Lustre and Abundance.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

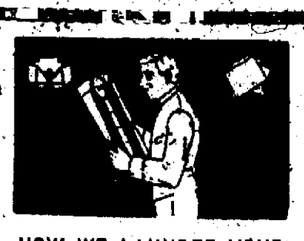

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the tonic at home or get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully and removes dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair; besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and ... Adv.

Guild Girls to Give Party on Saturday

The girls of St. Agnes guild, Manitou, will give a card party Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Miss Leonora Pollen, 175 Ute avenue, instead of Friday as formerly announced. The affair will be for the benefit of St. Andrews church and both bridge and five hundred will be played. There will be music and refreshments and prizes for those making the best scores in the card games. This will be the last entertainment to be given by the guild until after Lent, and all friends are invited.

Just to prove that their manual training is of the practical sort, the boys in the Nesquehoning, Pa., public schools have erected a domestic science building.

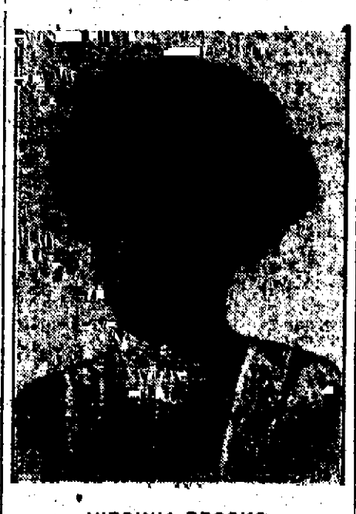

Effect of One Bottle

Crandall, Tex.—"After my last spell of sickness," writes Mrs. Belle Teal, of this city, "I remained very ill, and was confined to bed for eight weeks. I could not get up all this time and though my doctor came to see me every day he couldn't do me any good. I had taken but one bottle of Cardui, when I was up, going everywhere, and soon I was doing all my housework." Cardui helps when other medicines have failed, because it contains ingredients not found in any other medicine. Pure, safe, purely vegetable, Cardui is the best tonic for weak, sick women. Try it. What the Press Agents Say

"LITTY" LOST SISTER"

Go to New York or Kansas City or Minneapolis—to Los Angeles, or Denver or Seattle. You will see by the daily newspapers that someone has written another play about the ruination of girls. In any city, no matter where, you will see advertisements of the white slave play; but from the advertisement it is impossible to form an intelligent opinion as to whether you wish to witness the play.

VIRGINIA BROOKS,
Noted social worker and author of "Little Lost Sister," which comes to the Opera house Friday for a two-day engagement.

However, admitting that there are plenty of white slave dramas let us analyze the "best seller" of the output. That play is "Little Lost Sister." It has what the billboards say it has, and more than that it is gripping, illuminating, thrilling and true, and is not offensive.

Let us find fault with "Little Lost Sister." What is it about, anyway? Simply this: It is a stage presentation of two girls, one who is good and one who is bad, yet principally about the bad girl, the "lost sister." It is perhaps too trite. That is the only fault anybody has yet found with it.

The play in four acts—from a typical small country town, through the vilest den in Chicago, and back to the country, is bound to keep any audience in constant suspense. It is certainly a thriller, and oh, so honestly true. Were that all white slave plays were like "Little Lost Sister."

"Little Lost Sister" is dramatized from the book that Virginia Brooks wrote during the summer investigations in Chicago. E. E. Rose did the dramatizing and by the way, Mr. Rose is the author of that wonderful play, "The Rosary."

JOSEF HOFMANN

H. T. Parker of the Boston Transcript is the author of a well written essay, in which the characteristics of great pianists are reviewed with a strong, intellectual and rather merciless pen. After describing the faults and mannerisms of several virtuosi, Mr. Parker pays his profound respect to Josef Hofmann in the following words:

"Mr. Hofmann respects himself and his profession. He will not enforce any sort of cheap extraneous acclaim. He comes to his public only as an eminent pianist to justify his reputation in his ears. He makes no appeal to 'personality,' perhaps, indeed, he goes too far in his disdain of it, as a stimulus to his hearers."

Mr. Parker is merely one of many discriminating persons, who are inclined to think of Hofmann, as he wrote, this pianist never descends to the level of the gallery; no, he would not do it, if the receipts were doubled or trebled. Should any one ever presume to advise Hofmann to change his modest and sincere manner for affectation and mannerisms, no doubt the foolish adviser would be treated to display of righteous indignation, that he would not soon forget. As Mr. Parker declared, "Hofmann respects himself and his profession," and he will never alter the habit of a life time.

Hofmann will appear in recital at the Burns February 23.

Elephant Act Real Vaudeville Feature

For one who enjoys animal acts Power's elephants, the headline act on the vaudeville bill which opened at the Opera house yesterday, will provide a half hour of pleasant diversion. The act is somewhat of a novelty for the vaudeville stage, but its chief interest lies in the training of the four huge animals.

Neither sharp-pointed hooks nor jabs are used to put the elephants through their various stunts. They are so well trained that they go through the performance almost without supervision. And should they falter, only a word of command is necessary to start them again. But more remarkable is the fact that the monsters are worked by a woman and a girl instead of a gruff-voiced trainer.

The act is slightly different from the average elephant act, although many of the old tricks such as the elephant barber shop are introduced.

With the possible exception of Le Noir's manikins, the elephant act is the only one worthy of more than passing attention. The manikin act is indeed a novelty. The little figures on the miniature stage are manipulated with such dexterity as to appear almost real. The members of the orchestra work hard, if they don't produce much sound, and the people in the boxes furnish not a little amusement.

May Kessler has the ordinary musical act. She plays a number of cornet solos and her accompanist furnishes a piano solo. Howard and Escher fail to live up to their billing, "That funny pair." Their act is too much on the order of the slap-stick comedy variety to be pleasing.

CHOOSE WHOM YOU WILL SERVE, SAYS DR. PARRETT

Dr. R. J. Parrett, who is conducting evangelical services at the "Tourist Memorial" United Brethren in Christ church, spoke last night on the text "Choose you this day whom you will serve." He chose as his text, Joshua 24:15. Dr. Parrett said in part:

"All of us will make the choice tonight; no man or woman will go out of that door without having their choice about whom they will serve. All that is said about man in the word of God, he is treated as a free moral agent. Christians are volunteers, they are in the kingdom because they have volunteered to serve God. Now, because God has blessed us with this free moral agency, and the right to choose, we are not to feel that we have a right to choose a life that is destructive to ourselves; that is destructive to the final life in the world that is to come. Don't you think that any man or woman is worthy of more glory than the devil can give to man or woman. I believe that God will help us to realize just what sin will do for us, and just what right will do for us.

"Society holds men responsible for what they do; communities hold men and women responsible for what they do. A man once said to me, "I don't believe a man is responsible for what he does," and I said, "My friend, if that man comes into your home in the darkness of the night and steals your purse you must not say anything about it, for he is not responsible for anything he cannot help. If he comes in the night, and sets a burning torch to your house just go on quietly in life. Certainly he could not help it—he is not responsible. After all he said, "I don't feel that way about it." The laws of the country hold men and women responsible. Men and women are responsible to God and they must give an account for the lives they live in the social world. If that were not true there could be no good; could be no wrong, and the law of God would be a blind law and man would be a mere machine to be acted upon by forces by which he has no control. All of us believe that we are responsible for the choice we make in life, responsible for the results that come to us from that choice, for the appeals that come. "Choose you this day whom you will serve."

"Men will object and say influences have much to do with the life they live as much as to say, these influences relieve me of my personal responsibilities to God my self and fellow men. God allows these influences to reveal to us just what we are. No man knows what he is until he is tested. It is a cowardly thing for any man or woman to say I am what I am as a sinner because of the influences that are about men. It is a cowardly excuse to say I would be a Christian if it were not for the influence that is about me. God help us to manly men and womanly women, rising above the influences that are about us and doing the things that God would have us do. Yet, people in Colorado Springs and some even in the church of God are giving this excuse for the way they live because of the influence about them. Don't allow any influence about you or any condition in your life to defeat you in doing the right thing—and do it tonight. For you have no chance or no offer of tomorrow. What you are just now is because you want to be. If you are a Christian you are a Christian just because you want to be—if a sinner just because you want to be. You would not be a sinner or a Christian if you had not decided to be so."

BURNING ITCHING SCALP DISEASE

Scratched Until Scalp Cut All Over. Could Not Sleep. Hair Came Out. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured in Fifteen Days.

Ardon, Iowa.—"My son had a scalp disease; he had a burning itching for fifteen or sixteen years. On account of the intense itching he would scratch his head until his scalp was cut all over. Several scabs had formed by scratching. He would wake up at night and scratch; sometimes he could not sleep with the itch and burning. There were pimples about as large as a pin-head all over his scalp, a red rash as red as blood. His hair came out gradually. It seemed as if the hair was dry, no life in it.

"He used [illegible], a wash of blue stone and toilet soap, still he never got any relief until he used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. He would wash his head until it would be white with the lather from the Cuticura Soap, then he would wash his scalp clean with warm water, then rub the ointment all over his scalp. He was cured in fifteen days' time." (Signed) Mrs. Jane Edwards, Oct. 15, 1913.

In selecting a toilet soap why not procure one possessing delicate emollient properties sufficient to allay minor irritations, remove redness and roughness, prevent pore clogging, soften and soothe sensitive conditions; and promote skin and scalp health, usually? Such a soap is found with the purest of ingredients and the most fragrant and refreshing of flowery odors in Cuticura Soap. Cuticura Soap 25c. and Cuticura Ointment 50c. are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card: "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for the skin and hair.

The Joy Of Coming Motherhood

A Wonderful Remedy That is a Natural Aid and Relieves the Tension.

Mother's Friend, a famous external remedy, is the only one known that is able to reach all the different parts involved.

is a penetrating application after the formula of a noted family doctor, and lubricates every muscle, nerve, tissue or tendon affected. It goes directly to the strained portions and gently but surely relieves all tendency to soreness or strain.

By its daily use there will be no pain, no distress, no nausea, no danger of laceration or other accident, and the period will be one of supreme comfort and joyful anticipation.

To all young women Mother's Friend is one of the greatest of all helpful influences, for it robs childbirth of all its agonies and dangers, dispels all the doubt and dread, all sense of fear, and thus enables the mind and body to await the greatest event in a woman's life with untrammeled gladness.

Mother's Friend is a most cherished remedy in thousands of homes, and is of such peculiar merit and value as to make it essentially one to be recommended by all women.

You will find it on sale at all drug stores at $1.00 a bottle, or the druggist will gladly get it for you if you insist upon it. Mother's Friend is prepared only by the Bradfield Regulator Co., 137 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., who will send you, by mail, sealed, a very instructive book to expectant mothers. Write for it to-day.

Dear Mary:—

I've been thinking of a plan to way-lay
our black cat,
Use her hide for a neck-piece warm and her wily old head for a hat.

Alice might have done this with the "Chessy" cat if she had been up to date. Much is permitted the high priests of Fashion. They are people of unusually fertile imagination; when they allow these imaginations to run riot, though, anything is going to happen. This is one of the somethings. It was either cruelly and subtly planned or else an unpleasant faux pas. Just think how much greater the temptation to use that apt expression "Horrid little cat" if our best beloved enjoy should indulge in one of these headdresses!

It is startling but might be becoming to one of those females of "feline grace" that we read so much about in the modern novel. I prefer to let pussy sun herself in peace on the window ledge or lie at my feet near the fire.

Your humane,

ADELE.

INDIGESTION, GAS, DYSPEPSIA GONE

"Pape's Diapepsin" fixes sick, sour, gassy stomachs in five minutes

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt, if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated just take a little Pape's Diapepsin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary. Adv.

Evangelist Preaches Against All Dances

T. L. Rippey, "the traveling man evangelist," preached to a large congregation yesterday morning at the M. E. church, South, on "Personal Evangelism." In the evening he preached on "Dancing," and said in part:

The contention is made that dancing is good for the health. Maybe there is truth in the contention, but there are better ways to get health. It is said that dancing lends grace to the form. There are other kinds of physical exercise that will accomplish the same result. It is argued that it affords recreation. It is true that toilers need recreation, but the question is: Is this the recreation our young people need? You say that the dance gratifies the social nature. Granted that it does, what else about it? There is more or less truth in some of these contentions, I grant you. And I must add one other claim that may be rightfully made for the dance: namely, it furnishes an expedient very serviceable for ignorant and stupid people who have not intellectual resources for entertaining one otherwise.

If I speak plainly it is because of blood-red conviction and because I hear the wail of lost souls ringing in my ears.

First, I assert that the promiscuous round dance between the sexes is a thing that Christians may not practice, patronize, encourage or tolerate. Is it not strong presumptive evidence against the dance that it has never been countenanced by the people of the best society? If you would know what I mean by the best society, go to the Book and find the Enochs and Abrahams and Pauls and Barnabases, and then come on down through all the centuries and list all of their kind—those men and women of the ages who are known as God's people; these are what I mean by the best society. Hear me! You have no right to indulge in anything that your pastor cannot do.

The highest courts of the Roman Catholic, Episcopalian, Methodist, Congregational and Presbyterian churches stood uncompromisingly opposed to the dance as a form of social pleasure fraught with the direst peril to the morals of those engaging in it. Will you put your individual judgment against all these competent judges? When you are sick you call for a skilled physician. When in trouble before the courts, you entrust your interests to the ablest lawyer. You do well to listen to the consensus of opinion from those who have made moral problems their life business, who have diagnosed conditions from actual contact with them as they have approached them with unselfish interest in the welfare of the people.

Remember Aristotle's keen and just aphorism, that a thing is to be judged not only by what may be seen of its nature, but also by what is known of its tendency. The tendency of the dance is not toward divine contemplations and the discharge of religious duties, but is toward the world that forgets God. It chills the warmth of Christian hearts, is death to the place of secret prayer, and is a deadly foe to the prayer meeting.

Dancing kills any influence you may have for Christ. You know that it is so. That fact alone ought to condemn it forever in your life. A young woman asked her pastor what was the harm in dancing. The pastor asked her to take the dance hall position in his arms there in her parlor, in the presence of her mother. She blushed, and never afterward danced. There is surely something wrong in that practice in public which is a disgrace in private. I hear some one say, "I don't want to hear that preacher preach against dancing; I am afraid he will shock my modesty." God have mercy upon that soul that is willing to practice what it is a shame to talk about!

News of the Courts

William Limpher, charged with carrying concealed weapons, was sent to the county jail for 30 days by Justice Bennington yesterday. Limpher was arrested by the police under the name of George Fortune.

James Lacey, formerly a Colorado City saloon keeper, was fined $100 and costs in the district court yesterday for the illegal sale of liquor.

K. Moriyama, charged with violating the electric wiring ordinance, was fined $5 and costs in police court yesterday. City Electrician Reasoner is keeping a close watch for similar offenders. The ordinance requires that all fixtures be inspected so as to lessen the danger of fire from improper wiring.

E. Burns was fined $10 for [illegible]. A. Wyant, $10 for drunkenness and Charles Laundres was fined $5 for violating the solicitors ordinance. The latter will appeal to the county court.

William Davis, convicted of horse stealing, was yesterday sentenced by District Judge W. S. Morris to serve from two to three years in the penitentiary. Roy Bradley, his accomplice, was sent to the state reformatory.

Juan Gonzalez, a Mexican, was sentenced yesterday to serve 30 days in the county jail and pay a fine of $50 by Judge W. S. Morris of the district court. Gonzalez was convicted some time ago of stabbing a fellow countryman, who recovered.

Ed Gleason, alleged to have stolen a gold watch case, was arrested by Constable Dolman yesterday on warrant issued from Justice Marston's court. Gleason will be given a hearing this morning.

Three boys, thought to have robbed a number of barns in the city during the last few days, were arrested by the police yesterday. They were turned over to the juvenile authorities. They are said to have stolen tools, sacks and other small articles.

MURPHY AND CROKER

RICHARD CROKER denouncing Charles F. Murphy is reminiscent of the pot calling the kettle black, but it seems to be having an effect in New York where Murphy is just now under a heavier fire than ever before in his career as leader of Tammany Hall. "I hope some good men will get in and drive all them grafters out," says Croker. "The Hall will never win under Murphy's management."

Nothing succeeds like success. For ten years Murphy has been in the saddle. He has kept his grip on Tammany and not only retained its supremacy in New York City politics but extended its influence in the state. Twice he has controlled the state convention and nominated the Democratic ticket, and until the Sulzer affair last fall he was probably more powerful than any other Democratic boss in New York state. This is an anomalous condition, for until Murphy's time Tammany limited its activities to New York City.

But now his prestige is shattered. The impeachment of Sulzer has given his enemies, within and without the organization, a long-sought opportunity. Even Governor Glynn is against him. Glynn, who reached his present station solely because of Murphy's war on Sulzer. It is said that the governor and President Wilson have united forces to put Murphy out, and Mayor Mitchel, of course, will help in the fight.

If the downfall of Murphy would result in the succession of a better man all of this would have a more hopeful tone, but Tammany wants the Murphy type of politician as its leader. Indeed, a man of any other type would be unfitted for the job. After Croker went to Europe Lewis Nixon was chosen in his place, but withdrew in a few months. He was too honest for the place; otherwise he was quite capable, but not being a crook by instinct and training he was unfitted to rule Tammany. It will be the same with whoever succeeds Murphy, for the real evil lies not in the personality of the leader but in the character of the organization itself.

AUTOMOBILE EXPORTS

LAST year American automobiles sold abroad reached a total value of $40,000,000, as compared with $2,000,000 ten years ago. Meanwhile the value of imported cars has steadily declined, falling from $2,500,000 in 1909 to $1,500,000 in 1913. Canada continues to be the largest customer for American cars, with England second.

Thus in less than a decade American manufacturers have taken precedence in one of the greatest manufacturing industries, one which originated in France and there gained such a foothold that nobody supposed it would ever be displaced. But the French makers proceeded along the wrong lines. They limited their output to a few high-priced cars, which correspondingly limited their market to a few rich buyers. Meanwhile American makers centered their effort on low priced and medium priced cars with a large output. The greater the production the greater the saving in cost, and the average price of American automobiles, quality considered, has been steadily reduced.

There is no car made in Europe of the quality of the American machines which sell at from $500 to $1,500. French factories are still turning out the big five-thousand-dollar cars, but there is not one with an output of more than two or three thousand a year. In this country a half dozen concerns each boast of a production of 20,000 automobiles annually, and one claims to produce the enormous total of 100,000 cars a year. American ingenuity and efficiency have turned the scale, and today the American automobile is in possession of the markets of the world.

A PARENTS' LEAGUE

MRS. JOHN HAYS HAMMOND of New York, wife of the eminent mining engineer, has organized a Parents' League ... wholesome standards for the ... amusement and home life of children. "It is hoped," she says, "to make it fashionable to be sensible and unfashionable to be foolish." The membership is composed of people prominent in New York society.

Every day a new organization is launched with the object of reforming something or somebody. Some days several of them come into existence. Most of them live while the enthusiasm lasts and then die of inanition without accomplishing anything whatever. It remains to be seen whether Mrs. Hammond's Parents' League will be of this sort; at any rate it has an opportunity for usefulness. And the opportunity is not limited to the children of New York society people or to those of any other particular class. One need not have grown past middle life to recall a time when the average child was very different from the youngster of today in everything that goes to make up the sum total of good breeding. The slang term, "fresh as paint," aptly expresses the attitude of the ten-year-old nowadays; he knows more than his parents and is not averse to impressing them with the fact on all occasions.

Just who or what is to blame for this condition is another matter. Perhaps it would be nearest the truth to say that it is the result of wrong home training but this opens up a field for unlimited discussion. Anyway, if parents' leagues can do anything to elevate present standards they will deserve the thanks of the race.

The Progressives of Calhoun county, Michigan, have endorsed Henry Ford for Governor. His record as one of the largest and most successful employers of labor in the country justifies the belief that he would soon straighten out the hopeless muddle into which the Calumet strike has fallen as a result of the incompetence of the present executive.

Orville Wright says the proposed trans-atlantic aeroplane flight for the prize of $50,000 offered by Lord Northcliffe is impossible, and Glenn Curtiss says it isn't. Evidently, one of the original inventors of the aeroplane is soon going to be discredited.

A Mexican dispatch says that the anniversary of the adoption of the constitution passed off quietly. The constitution itself passed away quietly so long ago that nobody remembers it.

"In spite of my past history, I am struggling now to be a reformer," says Prof. Taft. He begins about five years too late.

To the Editor of The Gazette

The Open Parliament of February 16 makes ... say that Americans have invested $11,000,000,000 in Mexico. One billion is the so-called investment charge against poor, bleeding Mexico, which is six times the amount actually received.

FROM OTHER PENS

THE SUNDAY REVIVAL

From the Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph

The beginning of the sixth week of the revival conducted by William A Sunday finds interest in this remarkable movement not merely unabated but increased and intensified. The awakening is universal extending to all classes and to all creeds and the clergy are as deeply interested in the work of the evangelist as the laity naturally so inasmuch as one of the prime effects of Sunday's preaching is to fill the vacant pews in the churches and to strengthen the hold of every worthy preacher of the gospel upon his people. Aside from this the Sunday campaign is of immense value because of what it accomplishes for the general raising of the standard of public morals. The lessons of simple morality of right living and of good citizenship taught at the tabernacle are going home and their efficacy is visible in the altered lives of thousands of men and women in all walks of society.

In the face of such practical results there is an end of discussion concerning the sincerity of Sunday and the propriety of his methods. As a matter of fact an honest analysis of Sunday's methods, made, not at a long range but by direct observation, can result only in the conviction that the evangelist in dropping the stilted pomposity and empty verbiage common in the churches and speaking like a plain, everyday man to his neighbors takes the shortest cut to the minds and hearts of his hearers and achieves success where others have failed.

In any case, it matters not who or what Sunday is, or what methods he utilizes. The fact is that he "gets there" that he compels the attention of the multitude interests it in the truths of morality and religion and persuades thousands to make the one great effort of their lives towards the attainment of a higher plane of usefulness. Whether he does this by conventional means or with a brass band is unimportant when it is considered that he actually does it and that, as a consequence the whole community is being made better and wiser. Sunday is visibly an instrument for the uplifting of humanity and it is well that our people receive him as such and profit as they unmistakably are profiting by his teachings.

INTERLOCKING DIRECTORATES

From Harper's Weekly.

Now that the example has been set by the Morgan firm of withdrawing from some interlocking directorates, the question arises of what further steps are logical. In this connection, attention may be called to the proposal last April in the "Harvard ... Review" of Max Pam, whose opinions are entitled to study. As ... he ... identified with the organization of trusts and has had for years full opportunity of seeing the advantages and disadvantages of big business. He reached the conclusion that interlocking directorates were a menace to the public and demanded drastic legislation. Much can be said in support of the specific measures he proposes. He urges the government to come to the aid of minority stockholders.

The president of every corporation should be required to report annually to the stockholders and to the state and federal officials every contract made by the company in which any director is interested. The attorney general of the United States or of the state should investigate all such contracts and take proper proceedings to set them aside and recover damages, or else without setting the contract aside recover the profits of the interested directors. State and national bank examiners, state superintendents of insurance and interstate commerce commissions should be directed to examine the records of every bank, insurance company, railroad company and other corporation engaged in interstate commerce. The proposal is fundamental and comprehensive. Sometimes it is the man who knows the inside best who is most fundamental in the remedies he advises.

THE GREAT LAKES

BY GEORGE FITCH

Author of "At Good Old Siwash"

So long as the Great lakes exist, the United States of America need not worry about its supply of drinking water. No nation in the world is so lavishly supplied with pure, fresh water. And yet, in every great city which borders on these great lakes men can be seen rushing by thousands to slake their thirst with something else.

The Great lake are five in number and can be drunk with impunity, without being boiled. They form the largest collection of unsalted wetness in the world, and all of England could be put to soak in them. From the western end of Lake Superior, adventurers can sail almost 1,500 miles before Lake Ontario peters out into the St. Lawrence river. Much caution must be observed in doing this, for three reasons. In the first place, Lake Superior falls all over itself getting into Lake Huron; in the second place, Lake Erie, after flowing gently past Buffalo, suddenly drops 160 feet at Niagara, with a tremendous concussion. In the third place, the Great lakes, when irritated, take delight in piling the most ponderous vessels bottom up on top of each other along its shores. The Great lakes would only make a little patch of wetness in the ocean, but they have a way of standing a ship on its extreme end and of promoting sea sickness in all of its forms, which even the ocean cannot surpass.

Lake Michigan is the largest bath tub in the world.

The Great lakes form a wide and generally ample boundary between the United States and Canada and the two governments have improved the rough spots in them with canals. Because of this, the lakes now resemble a torchlight procession in the busy season and more vessels pass Detroit than will ever go through the Panama canal. Owing to the low freight rates, good fishing and cool summer breezes, enormous cities have grown up along the Great lakes, including Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit, Milwaukee, Buffalo, Toledo, Toronto and Duluth. These cities now have almost 5,000,000 population, but 100 years ago there weren't enough people in all of them together to influence a ward caucus in the slightest degree.

Lake Superior is the largest of the Great lakes. It has 29,000 square miles, is 900 feet deep and is so cold that steam heat is handy all summer around its shore. Lake Michigan is a long, deep lake, which is being borrowed by Chicago for the purpose of flushing its sewer system and now flows into the Gulf of Mexico as well as the Gulf of St Lawrence. Lake Michigan is almost completely surrounded with summer cottages and is the largest bath tub in the world. Lake Huron is shaped like a puddle of ink and serves to protect Michigan's peach orchards from the northeast storms. Lake Erie is as shallow as a society preacher, is lined with steel mills and contains the largest fresh water steamer in captivity. Lake Ontario has a pronounced Canadian accent along its north shores and is the only one of the five not infested with ore boats.

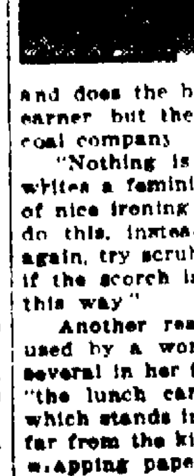

The Great lakes freeze up in the winter, both in their native element and in the plumbing of 1,800,000 homes, but in summer they are as beautiful as they are useful, and the North Central states would be dull and uninteresting without them.

The Household Efficiency Club

BY RUTH CAMERON

I have always held that one of the peculiar little psychological difference between the male and female mind is that men like to read directions, prefaces, foot notes, etc., while women usually skip such things. A man has just joined our Efficiency club by sending in his contribution and this is what it is:

"I take it even mere man may give you a hint for your short cut in housekeeping. Years ago I took time to read one of the little ads that each package of soda contains and since then have been putting a tablespoon of baking soda in the dishpan and washing the silver that way without any soap in hot water. Consequently we do very little scouring of silver in our kitchen. Try it and see. Of course egg stains need the scouring compound."

Mere man is more than welcome in our club. Also any of his brothers who have a contribution to offer. By the by I think it may interest some of my readers to know that he is not a man who stays at home and does the housework while his wife is a wage earner, but the president of a large and successful coal company.

"Nothing is more trying to a busy housewife," writes a feminine reader friend, "than to ruin a bit of nice ironing by scorching it. The next time you do this, instead of washing the garment all over again, try scrubbing the spot with a damp cloth and if the scorch is not too deep it can be removed in this way."

Another reader tells about a pet motion saver used by a woman who has to get up lunches for several in her family. It is a device which she calls "the lunch cart," a small washstand or commode which stands in front of her pantry window and not far from the kitchen table. In the large top drawer, wrapping paper, paraffin paper and paper napkins are kept. above the "lunch wagon" hangs a ball of cord and a pair of scissors, in one of the small drawers, cookies, wafers etc., are kept; in the other, little jars of sandwich fillings, also pickles, relishes etc. and in the remaining compartment are kept empty boxes of convenient size for lunches.

The possessor of this unique contrivance can put up a dainty and attractive lunch in 10 minutes without ... "as fast as ... can ..."

ODDS AND ENDS

If the investigating committee had not already discovered that the Trinidad or Las Animas is another and a different thing from the United States of America, they have by this time.

But even Governor Peabody would have hesitated before setting up his authority as greater than that of the congress of the United States. But it doesn't phase Ammons.

In other words, Organizer Cadmus of the Progressive party charges Taft with being Chief of the Turkey Buzzards.

But Taft did not originate the phrase, "socialists and anarchists," as descriptive of the Progressives. He merely borrowed it from the Telegraph.

No wonder President Wilson is sick half the time. If you had to manage the kind of congress he does you would be sick also or a suicide.

The telephone trust is now actually being dissolved. Noticed any better service or lower rates?

On one point, at least, Taft and Wilson are agreed. That literacy is no fair test of the character of immigrants.

Well, after all, there wasn't as much blood shed in Denver yesterday as one might have expected.

Why not employ that Carnegie educational board to make a survey of Colorado schools? We're wasting far more money than Vermont.

Republican statesmanship triumphant! G. O. P. filibuster forces an adjournment of the house of representatives! Who says the old party can't come back?

The African Ekoi, 'tis said, are the happiest people on earth. If you think so, you're at liberty to join 'em. It can't cost you anything for clothes for friend wife.

They called that 10 to 7 game in Nice the other day "a fast exhibition." It might have been considered sufficiently fast for Nice, but the Giants and White Sox couldn't get away with anything like that before the home folks.

Leading members of the Democratic party in Colorado have urged the committee not to spare Governor Ammons. By shouldering as much of the blame on him as he deserves the other Democratic state officials hope to escape responsibility for the outrages committed by the militia at Ammons' order.—Denver Express.

And the deeper into the facts the committee delves the more frantic becomes the desire of Democratic politicians to make Ammons the goat.

The Boulder Camera, which has been one of his stoutest supporters, says Governor Ammons is physically such a weakling that he should go back to the farm. Back to the farm is right.

Just now the sugar trust has put the price of sugar down so as to give some force to its argument to the farmer that he should raise beets at a smaller price this year. Just wait till these same farmers want sugar to put up fruit and see what the price is then.—Austin Journal.

And this from a Democratic paper, that assured us free sugar would kill the trust!

Farmers intend to push the organization of their union vigorously, to cover the entire state. But will Messrs Osgood and Welborn recognize them?

Paonia has the municipal ownership germ. Citizens are considering the establishment of a municipal light plant in connection with the water system.

The silo habit is reaching the western slope. The first two have been built in Montrose county.

Sheriff Schrader's plan to put arrested or convicted bootleggers to work on the public roads instead of letting them enjoy a life of ease in the county bastile is an excellent one and we hope to see it carried out.—Grand Junction Sentinel.

This is the first intimation we have ever seen that a bootlegger could by any possibility be made useful.

As to the chances of the Democratic party in the next election we trust they will not become a source of displeasure to the Colorado Springs Gazette.—Durango Democrat.

Not at all, not at all, Brother Day. We are far from displeased.

Reports say that E. P. Costigan will again run for governor at the election in the fall.—Telluride Journal.

Which reports we rejoice to say are eminently correct.

According to Democratic papers Costigan is a "politician" always running for office. Yet the first and only time Costigan ever asked votes was in 1912, and these same Democratic papers, without batting an eye, will advocate the election of John Martin or Edward Taylor, who have been candidates for one office or another so many years that we've altogether lost count.

The Rifle Reveille has declared war on the saloons in that town, announcing that at the spring election they must go. And that's about what will happen this time. Rifle is due.

In Colorado both old parties are so torn with factions that the Progressives need only thorough organization in every precinct of the state in order to win at the coming fall election. So mote it be.—La Junta Tribune.

That's what they're saying all over the state.

The Boulder Herald is another of those papers that attempt to deduce from the recent Iowa by-election that the Progressive party is dead. Very well, then: why don't the Republicans leave the corpse alone?

Ammons according to Welborn before the 1912 election called on the C. F. and I. president and asked for his support. We had suspected as much.

ARSENIC POISONING PREVENTION

Men who work in making and cleaning wallpaper, those who manufacture dyes, some workers at the manufacture of chemicals suffer at times from arsenic poisoning. Chronic arsenic causes the hair and nails to fall off, produces skin eruptions, bronchitis, bleeding gums, neuritis and Bright's disease. Acute arsenic poisoning causes violent vomiting and purging.

To prevent chronic poisoning the general ventilation should be of the best. Where hoods and exhaust fans can produce results they should be made use of. Sometimes respirators should be used, and ample washing facilities must be provided.

As an antidote for acute poisoning with arsenic take white of egg, then produce vomiting. After that, take milk.

People who work at the manufacture of celluloid articles develop cough, bloody sputum, and, in time, become asthmatic. The principal necessity is that there should be provision against fire. Fire apparatus, and especially fire smothering cloths and sand for the same purpose, should be kept at hand. The factory should be well ventilated.

Cleaners, dyers and all others who work with benzine or similar substances are greatly hazarded by their occupation. To prevent explosions add a small quantity of oil soap to the benzine (1-10 to 1-100 of 1 per cent). Such soaps are on the market.

Oliver gives the following as the method of manufacture of an oil soap. One part of caustic soda or caustic potash is mixed with four parts of alcohol. To this mixture there is added oleic acid in the proportion of one and three-fourths parts of the acid to one part of the alcohol-alkali solution. The mixture is heated and to it is added benzine or benzol in the proportion of two and one-half parts of benzine to one part of the mixture. This forms the oil soap which is added the benzine.

Those who work in an atmosphere of benzine get on benzine drunks. They later develop headaches and giddiness and then they vomit and become stuporous. The measure of prevention is fresh air. Hoods and exhaust fans should be used, and the body of the room must be well ventilated. Separate lunchrooms must be provided.

Benzine affects women more than men. Anemic girls should not be allowed to work at trades in which much benzine is used.

To sober the jag nothing is so good as plenty of cold fresh air. A glass of milk internally helps also.

TROUBLED WITH NERVOUSNESS

W. M. M. writes: "Please tell me some good book on nerves or mental control that I could study. My general health is good, but I am easily fatigued. I am thin and nervous. I cannot concentrate nor govern my mind properly. I often suffer from insomnia. I teach children and find that my work is beginning to tell on my nerves."

REPLY.

Put on a little fat by eating milk and rice in addition to your regular diet. That will help nervousness. Study "Calm Yourself," by Walton, or "The Human Machine," by Bennett, or "Control of Nerves," by Courtney. Get your nerves in hand; that will help you fatten.

GOVERNOR MARTIN GLYNN

Of New York, who is now the acknowledged boss of the Democratic party in New York state, by virtue of the action of the much-maligned Charles F. Murphy, head of Tammany hall, in agreeing to in the future confine his activities to New York city. That Murphy capitulated without a fight is believed to have been due to the fact that President Wilson had agreed to join forces with Glynn in a proposed campaign to wipe out Murphy and his cohorts.

MISS QUAYLE IS DEAD, DESPITE RADIUM CURE

CHICAGO, Feb. 17.—Miss Margaret Quayle, daughter of Bishop William A. Quayle of St. Paul, died at a hospital here early today while her father was rushing to her bedside on a fast train. Bishop Quayle was notified when his daughter became weaker last night and was due to arrive a short time after her death. Miss Quayle had been in the hospital here for two weeks. She underwent the radium treatment for a growth on her left leg at a Baltimore hospital and was being returned to her home when she became critically ill and physicians decided to give her a complete rest in this city before continuing the journey. Mrs. Quayle was at her daughter's bedside when death came.

PORTLAND TIMBER OPERATOR IS BANKRUPT FOR $499,41[illegible]

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 17.—John N. Blazier, a Portland timber operator, has filed a petition in bankruptcy through attorneys declaring inability to pay obligations aggregating $499,41[illegible].

Blazier is president of the Washington & Northern railroad company, the Oregon-Washington Timber company and the Blazier Timber company.

The largest debt of the liabilities scheduled is $395,000, made up of 395 promissory notes of $1,000 each. The notes are personally signed by Blazier and through them, money was raised for the development project.

Notes were last held by the American Realization company, a bonding house of Chicago, and the present owner of them is unknown, the petition states.

FRENCH CLUB TO GIVE ANNUAL PLAY SATURDAY

Seventh Production by Colorado College Organization Takes Place This Week in Cogswell Theater

The French club of Colorado college will give its seventh annual play Saturday night at 8 o'clock in Cogswell theater. The play to be given this year is "La Bataille De Dames" by Scribe and Legouve, two of the best known playwrights of the century. The time of the plot is the restoration period under Louis XVIII.

The scene is laid at a country chateau near Lyons and the theme is a duel between two noble ladies for the heart of a young refugee accused of Bonapartist sympathies. The costumes and setting represent the period of 1817. The cast is as follows:

La Comtesse D'Autreval — Charlotte Tousalin
Leonie de la Villegontier, sa niece — May Snyder
Henri de Flavigneul — Charles Emery
Gustave de Grignon — Jean Dupertuis
Le Baron de Mantrichard — Charles Johnson
Un Sous-Officer de Dragons — Guy Hopkins
Un Domestique — Guy Hopkins

FORD PROVES REAL ELECTRICAL WIZARD

Springs Man Gives Wonderful Demonstration of Electric Current

That Colorado Springs has a citizen who knows a few things about the little understood subject of electricity was demonstrated last night by Ford the Electrical Wizard (B. R. Ford of 822 North Royer street) who appeared as the home number on the Y. M. C. A. Star course at the Burns theater. Many new experiments in electricity were shown and Mr. Ford proved himself master of the situation at all times. None of the fake "experiments" so common to the usual platform electrical display were used by Mr. Ford last night. Each experiment was based purely on scientific methods. The audience proved its appreciation of the merit of the performance by generous applause and great interest.

Mr. Ford is at the head of the Ford Electrical company of this city and has been a resident here for the last 22 years. He has always made electricity a study and what he knows about it he has learned by study and experimentation. He has never attended a technical school.

During the last few years he has given demonstrations before small gatherings and has appeared at towns in the state. For the last five months he has been working steadily on new effects and has now worked up a program of more than 50 numbers. It is his intention to go on the lecture platform soon and he is now considering several contracts with lyceum bureaus.

Many Unusual Experiments.

The entertainments last night opened with a darkened stage where soon an electrical storm took place. The lightning, wind and thunder were all there with a realism that was awe inspiring. Finally from the scene of chaos Mr. Ford emerged and the storm ceased.

Many of the experiments were not new to the audience, but they were performed in a manner that showed better than the average control of the instruments. However, many new and strong numbers did appear on the program.

One of the most interesting experiments was based on the transmission of electricity through the air. Two men from the audience held a glass plate between them. By means of wireless transmission the plate became a furnace heated to 5,000 degrees Centigrade and yet the men were still able to hold it.

Such novel stunts as lighting candles from the tongue, or an electric light from a stream of water caused much amusement as well as wonderment.

The closing experiment was a beautiful spectacle. With the lecturer and an attendant holding a large electrical board between them the words "Good Night" were slowly spelled out in colors on the board, the electric blazes being formed in Geissler tubes.

The management was well pleased with the attendance last night and is looking forward to a good house February 26 when Dr. Thomas E. Greene, the lecturer will appear for the next number of the course.

Prof. Terry Lectures on American Forests

Professor Terry of the School of Forestry, Colorado college, lectured on "American Forests and the Practice of Forestry" last night at Perkins hall. The lecture was illustrated with slides illustrating methods of conserving forests, the views being loaned by the United States Forest service. The speaker, in addition to talking on national forests and their conservation, told of the methods being used in the Manitou forest, which is owned by the school and used for demonstration purposes. The lecture was the second in a series of 10 being given at the college this year.

U. G. M. CO. SHOWS NET PROFIT OF $14,823.30

TWENTY-FOUR HUNDRED VISIT FARMING SPECIAL

Educational Train Draws Many Visitors; Farmers in Fountain Valley Arrange Institute

Twenty-four hundred people, including business and professional men, High school students and farmers visited the farm products demonstration train at the Santa Fe depot yesterday morning from 8 to 11:30 o'clock. Talks were given by farm experts from the State Agricultural college and the women visitors were given practical demonstrations of various domestic science appliances by efficient women instructors who are with the train. The train left for Fountain at 11:30 o'clock and will be on the road for 10 days.

Including those who visited the train Monday night, the attendance in Colorado Springs reached nearly 4,000. Much interest was manifested throughout, and all who visited the train declare that they obtained much valuable information.

County Agriculturist W. H. Lauck of this city accompanied the train to Fountain and reported a good reception there. The train remained in the town to the south from 12 to 2 o'clock, and large crowds of farmers attended the lectures.

According to Lauck, the farmers held a meeting immediately after the train left for Pueblo, the next stop, and formed a temporary organization for the holding of a farmers' institute in Fountain, March 13 and 14. The farmers of the Fountain valley and the business men of the town will finance the institute themselves and will ask no outside aid. A general discussion of farm and stock questions will be held during the institute and a complete list of these subjects and the program for the institute will be announced later.

J. H. Smith of Buttes, Colo., was elected chairman, and J. M. Henderson of Fountain, secretary-treasurer, of the temporary organization. Committees were appointed on finances, publicity, meeting place and music.

Golden Wedding Day Is Celebrated by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Long

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Long, residents of Colorado Springs since 1889, last night celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their home, 709 South Sahwatch street. All but one of seven living children were present at the celebration, and all but one of the six grandchildren. Numerous other relatives were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Long are 69 and 67 years old, respectively, and are in excellent health for that age. At the "wedding" last night they appeared to be among the youngest of all and forgot the burden of age to return in memory to the days of youth.

Mr. Long was born in Fairfield county, Ohio, and Mrs. Long, who was Miss Isabelle Joyce, was born in Chatland, Northumberland, England.

Mr. and Mrs. Long came to this city from Mackinaw town, Tazewell county, Illinois, for Mrs. Long's health, and made the entire trip in camp wagon. En route, they stopped in Missouri and Kansas. Mr. Long has been engaged in house moving for years.

They were married in Delavan, Tazewell county, Illinois, 50 years ago yesterday. When they had been married but a short time, Mr. and Mrs. Long lived in a house that was occupied by Abraham Lincoln when Lincoln first began the practice of law. Mr. Long has a frying pan which was left in the house by Lincoln. The pan was hammered out from a single piece of copper. Mr. Long proudly displays the relic at every opportunity, and last night was no exception.

The following children of Mr. and Mrs. Long are living: James Long, E. D. Long, Floyd Long, Mrs. Daisy Reilly and Mrs. Madge Allen all of Colorado Springs, Mrs. Rose I. Belcher of Pueblo and Mrs. Pink Wood of Cairo, Ia.

Mr. Long was a member of the Seventy-third Illinois regiment, Company B, in which he enlisted July 22, 1862. He served in the army until the end of the Civil war.

At the celebration last night the couple received many handsome gifts appropriate to the occasion.

Wagon Load of New Literature Sent Out to Advertise Region

The Chamber of Commerce yesterday shipped a wagon load of descriptive literature to Texas for distribution in preparation for the coming tourist season. Included in the shipment was a large assortment of the various pictorial and other folders published by the Chamber of Commerce.

The literature is sent to the general offices of the Fort Worth and Denver City Railway company at Fort Worth, and from that point it is sent to several hundred ticket offices throughout Texas, Louisiana and the southwest. In addition it is used in answering the thousands of inquiries that are directed to this railroad.

This is most effective distribution, as practically every folder or booklet reaches an interested person or a prospective Colorado visitor. In cooperation with this railroad which annually does a great deal to advertise the Pikes Peak region as a summer resort, the Chamber of Commerce has for many years been working to build up travel from Texas.

Fireman Hurt When Engine Hits Boulder

Clyde H. Prosser of Colorado City, a fireman on the Short Line, had a narrow escape from death yesterday morning when a light engine in which he and Engineer H. Squires were riding collided with a huge boulder on the track near St. Peters dome. Prosser was badly scalded by escaping steam. The steam pipes and one side of the cab of the engine were demolished. The engineer escaped injury and assisted in taking Prosser to St. Francis hospital.

Mrs. John Drew Better

McLeansboro, Ill.—"About five years ago," says Mrs. John L. Drew, of this place, "I was afflicted with pains and irregularity every month. I suffered continually, was weak and despondent, and unable to do my housework. I took Cardui, and in one month I felt like a new woman and worked hard all summer. I am now in perfect health and recommend Cardui to all suffering women." Every day, during the past 50 years, Cardui has been steadily forging ahead as a result of its proven value in female troubles. It relieves heads he womanly miser and puts fresh strength into weary bones. Try it. Adv.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE DINNER TUESDAY NIGHT

Annual Gathering Postponed One Day to Avoid Conflict With Other Social Affairs

The annual dinner of the Chamber of Commerce will be held Tuesday, instead of Monday of next week, according to a decision made yesterday by the board of directors and entertainment committee. This will avoid conflict with the Musical club concert, and other social affairs. The dinner will be complimentary to Henry C. Hall, in recognition of his selection by President Wilson as a member of the interstate commerce commission. At this dinner, which will be held at the Antlers hotel, beginning at 7 o'clock, resolutions which were adopted at yesterday's meeting of the board will be presented by Leonard E. Curtis, and addresses will be made by prominent members of the Chamber of Commerce, telling of the invaluable service which Mr. Hall has rendered this organization and the community. Details are in the hands of the entertainment committee, composed of W. D. Hemming, chairman; Mark Raftry, J. Ray Lowell, J. McK. Ferriday, R. S. Ellison, F. P. Evans, H. C. Chapman, A. J. Lawton and Loring Lennox.

At the meeting of the board of directors yesterday, consideration was given to many of the plans for the year's work, and these will be outlined in brief at the annual dinner by H. Alexander Smith.

The plans for the proposed electric railway to Pueblo and Canon City were presented for the trades and industries committee by Vice Chairman C. W. Daniels and were discussed at length, the board giving its approval of the general plan.

The proposed Central Colorado fair was presented and referred back to the agricultural committee for further consideration and recommendations.

The advertising and conventions committee outlined briefly the plans in contemplation for the year, as did also the tourist travel committee which has given consideration to the proposal to secure the services of F. N. Innes as leader for the Midland band. These reports will receive detailed attention when the finance committee presents its budget at the next meeting.

It was voted to continue the work of the All-Colorado committee which has done so much good work the last year in promoting more harmonious relations between Denver, Colorado Springs and Pueblo. The members of this committee are Edward W. Kent, Dr. P. O. Hanford, L. A. Puffer and Secretary A. W. Henderson.

The transportation committee has given consideration to several matters affecting freight and passenger rates. The matter of colonist rates for Colorado points has been considered and referred to the special committee appointed by the Colorado Association of Commercial Executives.

The streets and highways and membership committees are just completing their organization and mapping out work for the year. Each of these committees will be composed of several subcommittees to each of which will be assigned certain specific duties.

CANVASSERS START WORK ON NEW CITY DIRECTORY

Book, in Charge of Morris Cohen, Will Be Ready by May 20; New Features Planned

Morris Cohen, secretary and superintendent of the R. L. Polk Directory company, yesterday started the work of compiling the 1914 city directory of Colorado Springs, Colorado City and Manitou and suburbs. The directory will be issued not later than May 20. Mr. Cohen, who had charge of the work here last year, has a staff of canvassers at work and expects to rush the book as fast as possible.

With one exception the new directory will be practically the same as the old one so far as contents and general style are concerned. The directory of streets in the front of the book will be changed so as to show not only the name of the occupant of the house but his telephone number as well. This improvement will take the place of a numerical telephone directory. The names of the streets in the new directory will be printed in black face type this year. The general makeup and style will be retained.

H. A. Smith Named to Succeed H. C. Hall

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce has selected H. Alexander Smith to fill the vacancy on the directorate caused by the resignation of Henry C. Hall recently appointed a member of the interstate commerce commission by President Wilson. He will serve also as chairman of the municipal affairs committee. His term will be for two years, the length of time Mr. Hall's term would have run.

Mr. Smith has been a member of the municipal affairs committee and the legislative committee of the chamber for three years and is well posted on the work required. He will announce the members of this committee soon and immediately take up a number of important matters which have been referred to him.

CONTRACT AWARDED FOR MARKSHEFFEL GARAGE

Dannevik and Currie, contractors, have been awarded the contract for the construction of the new garage and new rooms of the A. W. Marksheffel Motor company on the southwest corner of Cascade avenue and Kiowa street. The building is to be ready for occupancy by May 15. The contract calls for an expenditure of $25,000 and it is the intention of Mr. Marksheffel to erect another equally large garage and showroom in the near future and cover the entire site which he recently purchased from Mrs. Altman. The work of moving the residence from the property was started yesterday.

GEORGE CHIP TRIED EVERYTHING BEFORE HE ENTERED FIGHT GAME

Mining, Blacksmithing and Baseball Were All Wrong for Pittsburg Scrapper so He Turned to the Ring

George Chip tried almost everything in the world before he became a professional boxer. He would have quit that game, discouraged, if he could have thought of anything else to do. But he could not, and now stands well up among the aspirants for the middleweight title.

Chip was a boy in a Pennsylvania mining town. Naturally he started out in life to be a miner, but in a short time this work palled on him. It was too hard. So he went to work as a blacksmith's helper.

This is tough work, and swinging a sledge and shoeing horses built up the future boxer's muscles. But he finally decided that it was also too hard, though his work in the shop strengthened him and probably did more than any other thing to prepare him for his position in the ring.

Having given up blacksmithing, he figured that the easiest job in the world was clerking. He tried it and still he didn't like his work. The call of the diamond came to him, and he made an effort to be a baseball player.

Chip could hit and throw, but he was [illegible] on his feet. He soon found that while he could hold his own down among the lower levels as a first baseman, he could never rise. He liked the game, but found that it got him nowhere.

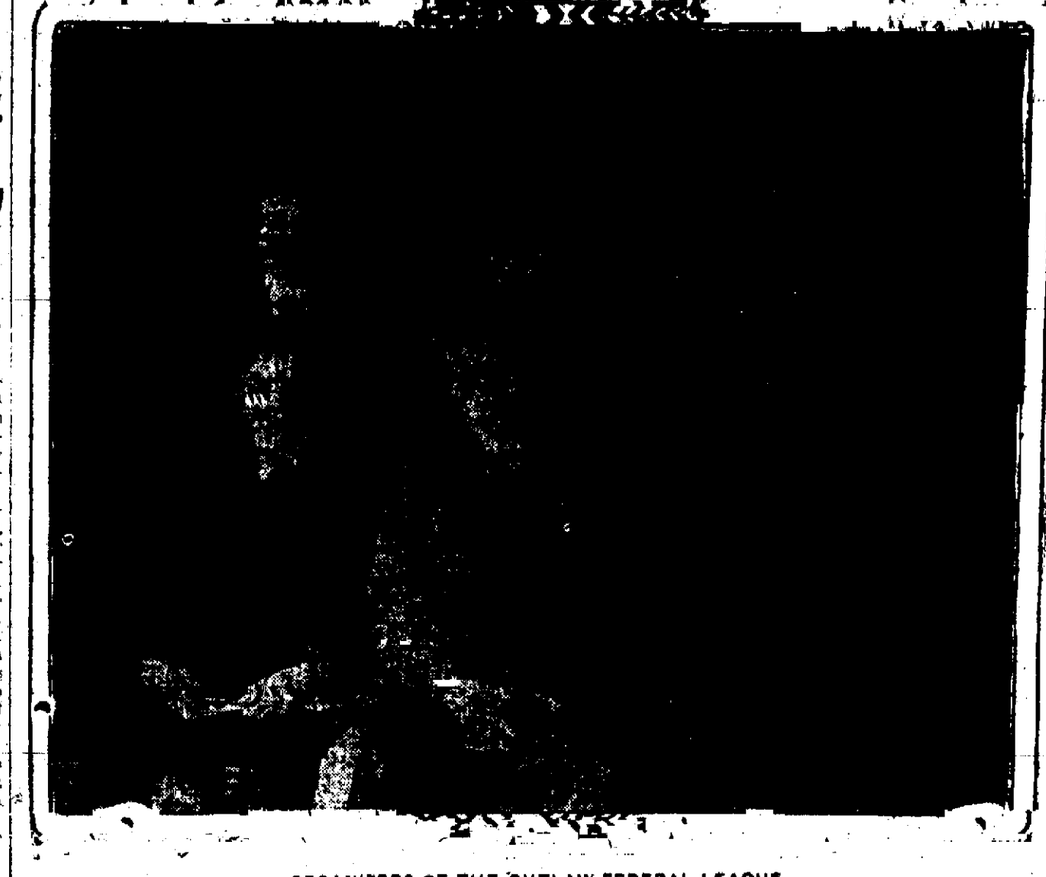

Somebody persuaded him to try boxing and he became one of the crudest preliminary fighters that the game ever saw. He has a wallop. If he ever reached a man his opponent was gone. But he rarely could reach him, and he got in the habit of being knocked out.

He was very much discouraged. When Buck Crouse knocked him out in the preliminary to the Ketchel-Klaus match at Pittsburg, Chip wanted to give up boxing forever. But he could not think of anything else he had not tried, and so stuck to the game.

This was in 1910. In the three years since then, Chip has learned a great deal. He is not and never will be a finished boxer. But he can hit.

His punch is his greatest asset. He is simply clever enough to land it once in a while, but when he hits he knocks all of the cleverness out of the other fellow. He did it to Christy, whom he met at Milwaukee.

He has twice knocked out Frank Klaus, and seems lined up for a real crack at the middleweight title.

TERRORS AND CASTLE ROCK CLASH TONIGHT

Champion High School Five Meets Up-State Team in Year's Last Game

The Colorado Springs High school Terrors, basket ball champions of Colorado, will meet the Castle Rock high school five tonight on the Y. M. C. A. floor. The game will be one of the last to be played in Colorado Springs, the few remaining contests scheduled for the Terrors being away from home.

Although the Terrors have won the state title, they have not stopped hard work, so the game tonight promises to be as fast as others during the season. The Castle Rock team is reported to be speedy and should put up a good fight against the local quintet.

The game will be called at 8 o'clock.

Round-the-World Airmen 'Peace Messengers' Plan

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—"Messengers of world peace," the contestants in the 1915 round-the-world aeroplane race from San Francisco, will be called, if the plans of the Aero Club of America, announced today, are consummated. The club sent a telegram to C. C. Moore, president of the Panama-Pacific exposition, urging that the air contests be made officially an expedition of peace.

It was announced that the club has written to the country's foremost peace advocates, including President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan and former President Taft inviting their cooperation in having the race inaugurate a worldwide peace movement in which the aviators, flying above potentially unfriendly frontiers, would be the pathfinders.

RAID OF FEDS MEANS THAT MORE NEW STARS THAN EVER WILL RISE

Compelled to Fill Many Places, Managers Will Give Recruits Every Possible Opportunity to Make Good

By FRANK G. MENKE.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—The raid made by the Federal league on the ranks of organized baseball perhaps will mean that more new stars will arise this year than ever before.

The fact that the Federals have grabbed off not only some of the regulars but also many recruits from the major leaguers means that the recruits who have remained will have just about as good a chance of making good as they would have had if the Federals had not indulged in their little game of snatching.

In other years practically every major league team went to its training camp loaded to the gunwales with recruits. The team, of course, carried its regular outfit, and about the only chance a recruit had was to oust a regular—a mighty task—or to create for himself a job as utility man.

The fact that each manager had to look over about 15 recruits, and had room for only about two or three men, made it so that few rookies got a real chance to display their wares. Many recruits, who, if given a long trial would have developed into major leaguers, were turned back to the bushes because they did not have a chance to show their real wares in the first month of the spring training.

But the situation this year is somewhat different. Nearly every club has one or two vacancies in the regular lineup to fill from the recruit ranks. This means that every recruit will be given a thorough tryout, and won't be chased back to the bushes the very first time he makes a foozle.

It seems just now as if every organized club will hang on to every recruit that gives evidence of being a ball player, if for no other reason than to protect itself. Although organized baseball leaders think for publication that the Federals won't last until the middle of summer, they are making plans for a long fight.

In case the Federals do amble along at a pretty fair clip up to midsummer, and show signs of "sticking" and making money in the process it seems quite likely that some of the players in organized baseball, who have held big Federal offers in abeyance, will jump because the salary is larger. That will mean a vacancy and the wise manager will hang on to his promising rookies for just such an emergency.

Further than this, the organized baseball managers will not care to risk sending back to the bushes a recruit who, with a little more experience, would be fast enough for the majors. Such an act will peeve the said recruit to a certain extent, and may make him easy prey for lurking scouts for the Federal league.

Another reason why 1914 will be a banner year for the recruits is that many managers must begin now to develop youngsters to take the places of the marvelous veterans—like Wagner, Leach, Mathewson, Lajoie and others.

The business of developing a man to take the place of any of these veterans is not one that can be accomplished in one season. Considerable understudying is necessary, and two years, even three, is not too long.

A five-cornered fight now is being waged among the five cities that want to stage the Davis Tennis cup matches this summer. Those cities are New York, Chicago, Boston, Pittsburg and Philadelphia.

The chances seem to favor New York. The metropolitan tennis enthusiasts have been angling for the event since last summer, when the victory of the American team assured the match for this country. However, the four other cities have not given up hope and intend making a strong bid for the honor when the United States Lawn Tennis association looks over the situation with a view to naming the city.

As long as everybody else seems to be engaged in doing it, Martin Sheridan, New York policeman, and world's champion all-around athlete in 1908 has decided to do a little "come back" himself. Sheridan has gone into training, and recently declared that he thinks he's just as good as ever and that he will make a bid for membership in the 1916 American Olympic team.

Such a storm of protest has gone up over the action of the Amateur Athletic union in suspending Abel Kiviat and Hannes Kohlemainen without a trial that a radical change in the rules may be the outcome. These two star runners were suspended after running a questionable race, despite their declarations that they gave their best efforts.

It seems likely now that the old rule of suspending a man and giving him his trial anywhere from two weeks to six months afterward will be rescinded and that a new rule will be made which will give a man his trial first and bring suspension only in case of guilt.

Max Goldberg, a New York lawyer, isn't very popular among the stockholders and directors of the Giants, Yankees and Dodgers. Goldberg, who happens to be an assemblyman in addition to a lawyer, has announced that he will introduce a bill asking for the creation of a baseball commission for New York state—a commission that will have the right to exact 15 per cent of the net earnings of the ball clubs for the state. Goldberg declares a fortune is made each year in baseball and the state ought to get its little "divvy."

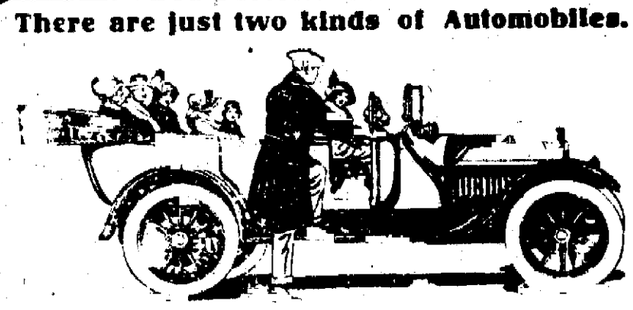

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—Jack Britton of Chicago defeated Gene Moriarity of Syracuse in the seventh round of a 10-round bout here tonight. Moriarity substituted for Young Brown, who was unable to fight because of an injured hand. They are lightweights.

NEW YORK MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—Although London sent over a lower range of prices today and then offered stocks here, the market presented a fairly firm front. It failed, however, to make up any of the ground lost in yesterday's decline. The market turned heavy toward the close.

The main development of the day was the series of announcements of forthcoming capital issues. The rate at which new capital is being sought indicated that in the judgment of many of the principal financial interests, the time to enter the market had arrived.

Traders felt today that the importance as a market factor of the interstate commerce commission's further suspension of the 5 per cent freight rate increase had been overemphasized yesterday.

Washington advices explained that, although suspension until September 12 had been ordered, it did not follow that the decision would be delayed until that time, and that, in fact, the ruling might be made in May or June. Heaviness of a few isolated stocks held back the general list. New Haven, Chesapeake & Ohio and Pennsylvania were under pressure.

Bonds were irregular, with an easier tendency. Total sales, par value $2,920,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

SUGAR

NEW YORK, Feb 17.—Raw sugar steady; muscovado, $2.95; centrifugal, $3.45, molasses, $2.70, refined steady.

CHICAGO MARKET

CHICAGO, Feb. 17.—Wheat for May delivery touched today the highest price of the year. Active demand from Europe was reported. Closing figures were steady at virtually the top level of the day, an advance of ⅛ to ¼@⅜c net. Other grain, too, showed an upturn—corn ⅛ to ⅜c and oats ⅛ to ⅜c. In provisions, the outcome was 2½ to 2½@5c decline.

Trading in wheat broadened out much more than has recently been the case, and especially gained in volume after the fact became apparent that export call had been heard from at Philadelphia, St. Louis and Kansas City as well as here. Besides, milling inquiry improved to an extent that could hardly be ignored, and there was a decided falling off in the stock pile at Minneapolis, notwithstanding that Nebraska wheat was being drained north instead of to Kansas City or Chicago.

Kansas reports of crop damage had a bullish effect on the wheat market just before the close. It was said that throughout the state, snow covering had disappeared and that in some places the ground was badly heaved, and the roots of the wheat plant exposed. It was also asserted that only the eastern third of Nebraska was at present protected by snow.

Corn bulged on account of wheat strength and in consequence of less favorable Argentine crop reports concerning late sown fields. There were signs also that feeding had become more general in the United States and that thaw might be expected which would put many country roads out of condition. In the oats trade, the smallness of country offerings had a bullish influence. Moreover, shipping sales from here were enlarged, but, according to one authority, reached the best total in a month.

Eastern longs threw provisions overboard, ribs in particular. The semi-monthly showing of stocks in warehouses had made holders uneasy. Commission houses, though, absorbed the offerings, and aided by the upturn in grain overcame most of the loss.

HAMS
If you prefer a mild cured dry smoked Ham try one of Our Own Cure. We select them from country dressed pigs, cure them slowly in an especially prepared sugar pickle and smoke them well over a slow hardwood fire. They are then properly aged before cutting.

Many people think they are superior to the famous Virginia Hams. Try a slice for broiling today.

A "Tango" Gossard Corset at $7.50

Extreme indeed is the latest Gossard Corset. Women who ride, dance, golf, motor, who insist on absolute freedom above the waist, can have it in this model.

For lounging, afternoon or evening wear, it is simply ideal. Such freedom and lithe, sinuous lines will captivate you, as it has the women of Chicago and New York.

Extends just above the waist line, and the skirt is medium in length. Three elastic sections permit the utmost freedom of movement. The abdomen curves just the slightest bit and the waist is natural.

A fitting in this model will tell you the entire story better than we possibly can. It will also prove again our just claim of being "The Corset Style Center of Colorado Springs."

Made in dainty figured batiste and priced at $7.50

The above is one of the several new Spring Gossard models we are now showing.
Other models, $3.50 to $12.50.
Before buying your Spring Gown or Suit, let our corsetiere fit you in one of the new corsets. All fittings free.
